Young Canada Pays Tribute to Past

Earnest six-year-olds Donald Pletch and Sylvia Duprose led a score of youngsters to the Queen Victoria statue yesterday to place wreaths commemorating the birthday of a great Queen and to mark Canada's Citizenship Day. (See story on Page 2.)

More than 1,600 school children raised their voices for the Empire Day-Citizenship Day services at the Legislative Buildings, while a pair of mallards paddled undisturbed in the fountain pond.

High-Pressure $2,000 Drive Leaves Only $125 for Charities

'We'll Never Do It Again,' Moose Governor Pledges

The Loyal Order of Moose in Victoria will receive only about $125 out of $2,000 donated to a "high pressure" charity drive, staged by a Hollywood organization on its behalf, which ended yesterday.

After Chamber of Commerce directors heard complaints about the telephone campaign, J. W. Priddle, Moose governor in this area, regretfully explained the campaign and said:

"We definitely won't do it again."

A. F. Corker, chairman of a sub-committee on donationss, urged the chamber to investigate all collections or drives here; to oppose drives unless 90 per cent of proceeds goes to local charities; to press for a united appeal for all major charities.

Mr. Priddle appealed to the public to assist in increasing the amount raised for local charities by the campaign by buying tickets from lodge members for a show at the Victoria Ballroom June 9.

PERSUADED TO SIGN

He said a Paul Forrester of Katona Productions Inc., Hollywood, came to Victoria March 17 and persuaded a previous governor to sign a contract to sponsor the show and allow his organization to conduct a fund drive.

"He said he had only a couple of hours and there was no time for a meeting of the lodge," Mr. Priddle said.

The contract gave 40 per cent of collections to Katona Productions; 40 per cent to the show, the "Rambling Tommy Scott Hillbilly Opera," from Nashville, Tenn.; and 20 per cent to the Victoria lodge for local charities.

Some $2,000 was collected in the month-long drive, of which the collectors and the show get $800 each. The lodge gets $400, but must pay expenses for telephones, hall rent and other items.

"We will only get somewhere between $100 and $140," Mr. Priddle said.

"I went to the police because I wasn't too struck with the methods used," he said. "They said it was above board, but only just."

A John Kelly, who stayed in a hotel for the last month at the expense of the campaign, hired Victoria men and women to telephone merchants. Turnover of employees was large."

Kelly left Victoria last night after setting up similar shows in Nanaimo, Port Alberni and Vancouver and is said to be going to Calgary next week, where Mr. Priddle said "organizations should be warned" of Victoria's experience.

Kelly, who is a Moose, and other Katona Productions employees are conducting similar campaigns "all across the United States and Canada," Mr. Priddle said.

Part of proceeds from these campaigns go to Moose Heart, Ill., where families of deceased lodge members live, and to Moose Haven, Fla., where elderly lodge members are housed. There are six Canadian families at Moose Heart and one Victoria couple at Moose Haven.

MOST TO SOLARIUM

"More money comes back to Canadians than we give," Mr. Priddle said. He added that bulk of the estimated $125 share of the local campaign will go to the Queen Alexandra Solarium, and the lodge will receive half of the proceeds from tickets its members sell before the show June 9.

Telephone canvassers asked merchants to buy blocks of children's tickets, then give them to children or have the Moose members do so.

Sale of tickets "is our only means of getting out of this mess financially," said the governor, who planned to meet chamber of commerce officials to explain.

"The lodge will do everything it can to make the show a success," he said.

CHAMBER OPPOSED

Mr. Corker's report said chamber members would not give to any collection or drive which did not give 90 per cent of proceeds to local charities.

George Wheaton, who urged the chamber to take on the charities investigation job, said of the "high pressure" canvass: "I am afraid I have been a sucker myself."

Directors withheld a decision until their next meeting, by which time they will have studied the report.

Advice of Druggist Blamed for Scare

Wrong advice by a city pharmacist was blamed Friday for the near death of a two-year-old city boy who swallowed a large quantity of pills earlier this week.

Ian, young son of Mr. and Mrs. John Le Boutillier, Oliver street, climbed up to a high shelf and swallowed the pills which had been prescribed for his mother.

The pharmacist who made up the pills was telephoned and told the frantic mother that there was no cause for alarm. The pills were harmless, he said.

The doctor who had ordered the pills was not immediately available.

Condition of Ian grew considerably worse and the doctor was eventually reached.

He ordered the boy rushed to hospital to have contents of his stomach pumped out.

It was stated yesterday that the youngster could have died from the effects of the pills.

Two Women in Hospital

Crowded City Beer Parlor Target of Tear-Gas Bombing

Scores of Victorians were crying in their beer last night after someone tossed a tear gas bomb into the crowded Westholme Hotel Tavern closing-time rush.

The ammonia tear gas bomb exploded on the floor of the packed beer parlor shortly before the 11.30 closing time last night sending two women to hospital and 150 patrons rushing for the fresh air with tears streaming from their eyes.

Witnesses said the bomb was dropped by two men minutes after they arrived and ordered four glasses of beer. The "bombers" escaped through the gasping crowd in the confusion.

RECOVERING

Reported recovering at St. Joseph's Hospital were Mrs. Rose Brooks, 2522 Blanshard, and Mrs. V. Allan, North Park street, who were so overcome by the acrid smoke and bitter fumes that they could barely speak.

Police and firemen were called to the hotel to clear out guests as fumes sifted to the third floor. Fire department set up fans in the beer parlor to try to clear out the pungent gas which sent coughing patrons streaming to exits, rubbing their eyes and holding their noses.

Three soldiers said one of the bombers was tall, with dark, wavy hair and was wearing a blue suit. There was no description of the other man.

"I thought a radiator had exploded," one soldier said. "But I soon realized it was gas; we had gas tests a few weeks ago."

"I know that guy and if I see him again, I'll wring his neck," the soldier added.

Head waiter Nick Lyster, 1720 Fernwood, said there was no panic.

A number of soldiers who were in the parlor warned other patrons not to rub their eyes.

BLINDING

"That stuff will blind you if you rub your eyes," they said. "Just hold your nose and let the tears come."

Lyster's children, Diane, 14, and Jim, 13, who were among the 20 persons forced out of upstairs rooms, said, "We had to open the windows and run right out."

IN SECONDS

Night clerk J. Targett said he was on the third floor shortly after the bomb was dropped. He said that in "matter of seconds the smoke and odor had filtered up through the building through ventilation ducts."

The pungent, tear-drawing odor was still present more than an hour after the incident.

Canada Retains Control

U.S. Foots Bill For DEW Line

OTTAWA (CP) — The United States will pay the full cost—estimated at $250,000,000—for construction and operation of the DEW (distant early warning) radar line in the Canadian Arctic.

When built, the line will be manned at least in part by American personnel, though Canada retains the right to take it over at any time.

External Affairs Minister Pearson Friday tabled in the Commons the text of an agreement between Canada and the U. S. for construction and operation of the line, an integral part of the North American defence network. The line will probably require at least two years to complete. Work on it began this spring.

U.S. operation of the DEW line would mean the stationing of hundreds of Americans in the Canadian north. There now are estimated to be some 3,000 American servicemen based in Canada, apart from those at three U. S. leased bases in Newfoundland.

The key paragraphs in the agreement are:

"It is understood that, in any event, Canada reserves the right, on reasonable notice, to take over the operation and manning of any or all of the installations. . . .

"The United States is authorized to station personnel at the sites, and to operate the DEW system, in accordance with the principles of command in effect from time to time between the military authorities of the two countries.

"Unless otherwise provided by Canada, the costs of construction and operation of the DEW system shall be the responsibility of the United States, with the exception of Canadian military personnel costs if Canada should man any of the installations. . . .

Flood Nears Highway

WINNIPEG (CP)—A new crest on the flooding Assiniboine river punched four holes 12 to 14 feet wide in a section of dike, 45 miles west of here, Friday sending a one-foot wall of water surging over rich farm land on its north bank only one mile from the main east-west highway.

Judges' Pay To Be Raised

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has decided to go ahead at this parliamentary session with long-pending legislation to increase judges' salaries, it was learned Friday.

United Appeal Idea Interests Agencies

Spokesmen for all major charities in Greater Victoria were quick to agree to attend preliminary discussions on a united appeal for charity after the Chamber of Commerce urged yesterday that all fund drives be rolled into one.

The spokesmen also stressed that more than 90 per cent of proceeds from their various campaigns go to local charitable work.

Agreement to attend a preliminary meeting was voiced by officials of the Community Chest, Red Cross, Conquer Cancer Campaign, Solarium Junior League, Salvation Army campaign and Kinsmen polio organization.

Red Cross and Community Chest, the largest groups, pointed out that campaign costs were three per cent or less of total contributions.

Eric Wainwright, Red Cross campaign chairman, said a united appeal is a "very, very good idea providing you can get somebody who could raise the money."

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, chairman of the Salvation Army drive, said the money raised here this year will be less than the amount spent by the army in this area.

Chamber Tour Back Home

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce goodwill tour of Washington State returned here from Port Angeles last night, after covering nearly 1,100 miles and meeting some 1,500 Washington chamber members and Rotarians at the different centres at which cavalcade of cars stopped.

Friday highlight was a visit to Olympia, Washington State capital.

Pre-Election Rail Strike May Seal Attlee's Fate

LONDON (Reuters) — A threatened rail strike burst unexpectedly Friday upon the general election campaign, heightening Labor party fears of a defeat at the polls Thursday.

The underdog Labor party realizes the public might accuse the party of failure to control its industrial followers and give Sir Anthony Eden's Conservative party the sweeping triumph that public opinion polls have predicted.

Leaders of 70,000 engineers and firemen announced Friday afternoon they will strike for higher pay May 28, two days after the election. The stoppage on the nationalized railroads would upset the long Whitsun week-end when millions of Britons traditionally travel to seaside and country.

Labor leaders fear the voters might point to the rail strike as evidence that nationalization is no solution to industrial strife and swing toward the Conservatives' "free enterprise" program.

Britain is also faced with its second national dock strike within a year. A breakway union of 15,000 stevedores has ordered a strike at four main ports, London, Liverpool, Manchester and Hull, to start next Monday—three days before the election.

The breakaway union's demand to be represented in union negotiations, now conducted by the rival Transport and General Workers Union, lies at the core of both dock disputes.

The Trades Union Congress, backbone of the Labor party, failed Thursday to negotiate a settlement of the inter - union dock dispute. The TUC last year suspended the breakaway union of stevedores and has ordered the 80,000 dock workers in the recognized union to stay at their jobs.

Despite the predictions of a sweeping Conservative victory, Lord Woolton, chairman of the party's political organization, warned against over-optimism.

"My greatest anxiety now is that our supporters should conclude the election is 'in the bag,'" he told a press conference. "I don't believe it is for one moment, and shall not believe it until I see the result."

Senate Narcotics Probers Told — Payments 'Just Like Grocery Bill'

Some Doctors Growing Fat on Dope Profits, Addict Says

TORONTO (CP)—A former drug addict Friday accused "a lot of doctors" of fostering drug addiction and growing fat on the profits.

The addict told members of the Senate committee on narcotics, that he had purchased heroin from a general practitioner and handled the payments "just like a grocery bill."

"A lot of doctors," he said, "have built their big houses on profits from drugs."

He was one of two former addicts who gave testimony at the committee's one - day hearing here. Their names were not disclosed. The committee already has held sessions in Vancouver and Ottawa. It goes next to Montreal.

Committee members heard conflicting advice on solutions to the illicit narcotics problem in Canada.

Assistant RCMP commissioner G. B. McClellan of Toronto said indefinite prison sentences for all addicts in Ontario would wipe out the provincial problem. One addict criticized the system of jail penalties and demanded "sympathy, understanding and sensible treatment."

Commissioner McClellan was supported in his plea of severe penalties designed to free society from the drug crime by Toronto Chief Constable John Chisholm, who said imprisonment provided safety for society, a deterrent to potential addicts and opportunity of effecting individual cures.

Suggestions by the police chief and the assistant commissioner drew fire from a 68-year-old former addict who said he had spent much of his life in jail.

"I have not had any drugs for over three years—and I'm reasonably happy," he said. "I think there are hundreds of addicts who could be the same if they got the same chances. Our society has failed to present those opportunities. It has adopted a defeatist attitude."

Commenting on suggestions made to the Senate committee during its recent sessions in Vancouver, the former addict said:

"In Vancouver the chief of police is obviously frustrated by a situation he cannot handle. He wants to put all addicts on an island somewhere and forget about them. I think that shows a lack of any sense of responsibility."

Russia Plans Atomic Travel for Masses

LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow radio said Friday Russia has "working projects" for an atomic locomotive capable of running 50,000,000 miles without refuelling, and detailed other projects for atomic submarines, ships and aircraft.

The radio, in reporting a talk by Prof. Vladimir A. Leshkovtsev, said the Arctic ocean — usually covered by sheets of ice—would in future be open the year round to atomic submarines sailing under the ice.

In describing the "working project" for an atomic locomotive, he said the engine, including the tender, is about 150 feet long and weighs 327 tons, of which the atomic "boiler" and its protective layers weigh 180 tons.

Referring to the United States atomic submarine Nautilus, Prof. Leshkovtsev said the Americans are concerned "solely with the use of atomic energy for war purposes."

Soviet submarines, he said, are to be designed to carry hundreds of passengers and thousands of tons of cargo over long distances at speeds up to 25 miles an hour. Air for passengers and crew will be stored in the form of liquid oxygen.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

"PEOPLE in Canada never stop working," said a gentleman from Africa.

It seemed to him that Canadians—particularly, Canadian men—were spurred by some kind of Puritan guilt feeling into a state of continual drudgery.

After a hard day in the office or shop, they tear home to work like plantation slaves at some self-imposed or wife-imposed task.

The thousands of them with their axes, saws, buzz-saws, spades and power mowers, whittling doggedly at some bit of wood or turf, struck the gentleman from Africa as a depressing sight.

* * *

They never find time to sit still, play or relax, he said.

I thought I had seen some fairly relaxed characters slumped in beer parlor chairs.

That was true, the gentleman from Africa admitted. But—as Stephen Leacock once said of Americans—many Canadians turn their drinking, and other forms of play, into work. They go at it with all their energy.

* * *

It's true, I think. Nine out of ten men I can call to mind are busy on some dismal project or other: building a boat, wrecking a car, digging a septic tank; planting trees, or chopping them down; adding a room to the house, or taking one off.

And what does this feverish outpouring of energy do for them? Undermines their heart muscles and robs them of a few months of life, perhaps.

* * *

Sometimes I hear people say they never have time to listen to the radio, read a newspaper or watch television. Men and women announce with apparent pride that they never read a book. Haven't time for frivolous nonsense like that, they swear.

You would expect them to be ashamed of such a confession. But they revel in it. They feel that their status as non-readers and non-listeners proclaims them Men of Affairs.

* * *

It is well known that some people become addicted to work in the same way that others become addicted to heroin. They can't leave it alone.

Deprived of the stimulus, they become haggard, surly. Even if a doctor orders rest, they manage to get hold of some illicit bootleg work from somewhere.

There is no cure for such work addicts. Forced retirement may seem a hope, but it never does them any good. A few months after he collects the engraved watch for 35 years' faithful service, the addict invariably perishes either from boredom or from overwork, in the garden.

But you don't catch me slaving away in the yard, or fussing with other home chores. No sir. In my spare time I like to work at writing.

I like reading, too, but I never seem to get time for it.

Stirring Ceremony

Tribute Paid To Heritage

More than 1,000 Victoria children with their colorful bands, joined the IODE in front of the legislative buildings yesterday morning in a stirring ceremony to observe both Queen Victoria's birthday and Canada's Citizenship Day.

The traditions inherited from Queen Victoria's England and the newer traditions which are the foundation of modern Canada were emphasized by the major speakers, Victoria High School Principal H. L. Smith and IODE Victoria regent, Mrs. J. L. Gates.

Massed on the steps of the buildings were hundreds of Greater Victoria school children. Forming guards of honor on the lawns and fountain walks were Boy Scouts, Guides, Cubs, Brownies, St. John Ambulance Cadets and Sea Cadets.

Rev. William Buckingham gave the blessing and led the massed children and adults in prayer.

Mr. Smith told the children that the life of service was the nobler and richer life. He said "we can discharge our debt to the past by being good citizens today."

Mrs. Gates explained why Empire Day, the birthday of Queen Victoria, is still celebrated in Canada, particularly Victoria. She said Queen Victoria "gave us a good name and a great past."

During the ceremony a group of little girls placed flowers around the base of the Queen Victoria statue on Belleville street.

Groups from nearly all Greater Victoria schools were led in patriotic and religious songs by H. J. Bigsby, supervisor of music for the Greater Victoria School Board. The Mount View high school band was conducted by Vernon Bryant and the Victoria schools pipe band by Ian Duncan.

Mica Creek Dam

U.S. Power Group To Make Bid Soon

A definite proposal to build the $250,000,000 Mica Creek dam will be made soon to the B.C. government by the Puget Sound Public Utilities Council, an official of the council said yesterday.

[illegible] in San Francisco, Jack D. Stevens, consulting engineer, said the group is still interested in building the dam and "will have to make a proposal soon."

His statement came shortly after a meeting of council officials with Premier W. A. C. Bennett and two of his ministers this week. The premier would not state whether any concrete offer had been made and Mr. Stevens called the visit merely "social."

He said the power group had never given the B.C. government any offer before.

The council did make public, however, a proposal under which it would build the dam and turn it over to B.C. in exchange for the storage which would benefit United States downstream generators.

Premier Bennett said at the time that B.C. would not accept that kind of an offer. He said the province was not interested in owning the dam, only in receiving power in return for downstream benefits.

In the case of the controversial Kaiser dam, an interim agreement calls for Kaiser Aluminum Corp. to build the dam and retain ownership of it, paying taxes and rental fees to B.C., plus 20 per cent of the extra power.

It is expected Premier Bennett wants a similar kind of arrangement for Mica Creak, although on a much longer term and larger scale.

'Wait Til Next Time'

'Elizabethans' Like Tories, As 'Caretakers'

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Britain's newest political organization, the four-month-old Elizabethan party, figures the Conservatives will win the May 26 general election.

But the Elizabethans, already claiming supporters by "Conservative estimate," make bold to say it will be a "caretaker" administration preceding their full-scale campaign for power about 1960.

Unable to nominate candidates this time because the election timing and finance, the Elizabethans are aiming at the election after this one with an 18-point program under which they will be prepared:

To outlaw strikes, divorce trade unions from politics, demand the return of British bases leased during the Second World War to the United States, form a Commonwealth-wide imperial cabinet and defence plan, harry Communists and raise cain with the politicians they believe responsible for presiding at the decline of the British Empire.

RED-HAIRED LEADER

Party chairman Frederick Guest is a slim, red-haired publicity man who directs his firm and the Elizabethan machine from a small office.

"It's just a matter of time until we have candidates," says Guest, 42. The party has a membership fee of five shillings. It is dedicated to "Great Britain and the empire" and has taken its name to signify the rebirth of the spirit marking the period of the first Elizabeth.

The party thinks both Labor and the Tories are full of "defeatism and decay."

Meanwhile it asks Britons at home and abroad "to have faith in the future of our country and guard against the enemy within."

Swiftsure Tune-Up Today

A preview of next Saturday's Swiftsure sailing race will be seen by Victorians today when a former navy captain and a navy crew match skills in a tune-up race.

Capt. W. B. Holms will race his big ketch Dragoon against the navy's HMCS Oriole.

Race is scheduled to start at Brotchie Ledge at 2 p.m.

Course will be around markers in Parry Bay near William Head, and Royal Roads, then back to Brotchie Ledge.

Oriole will be in command of Lt.-Cmdr. B. J. Judd who will sail with Venture cadets and Capt. R. P. Welland, commanding officer of HMCS Venture.

Both vessels are entered in the Swiftsure race.

Residents Halt Help for Boys

VANCOUVER (CP)— Opposition of residents has forced the Central City Mission to abandon its plans to open a home for rehabilitating youths from broken families. Herbert Fiddes, manager of the mission, said Thursday his organization will try to establish the home "where the residents are more helpful."

Spacing Makes Big Difference

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

We were discussing yesterday the selection of a few small ornamental trees to set out in the lawn of a small new home. The location of these trees is of the utmost importance, for a few feet one way or another can make all the difference in the world to the picture you create.

There was a carton in the Saturday Evening Post about a month ago showing a disgusted nurseryman digging whopping great holes all over a front lawn while the lady of the house scratched her head and tried to make up her mind where she wanted her trees. This is, of course, doing it the hard way.

When I am trying to figure out where to put a couple of ornamental trees or shrubs, my method is to get a pair of tall poles with sharpened ends, stick them in the lawn in the proposed positions, and try to visualize the trees as they will appear when fully grown and in full bloom. Then I go into the street and figure out how it is going to look to passers-by, and finally I go indoors to see what kind of a picture the flowering trees will make from our living room window.

Actually, I can't give you very much help in the matter of positioning your trees, as this is so much a matter of personal preference, and you'll just have to juggle around with your two sticks, running into the house and out into the street until it seems right and good to you. And never forget that in matters of this sort, your opinion is just as good as that of the most highly-paid expert—after all, you have to live with the picture you create, and nobody else.

The only thing I can tell you is that a symmetrical arrangement is hardly ever a good one. If you place your trees an equal distance from the street line, or centred with mathematical precision in the middle of a square lawn, the effect is sure to look too regimented and formal. This arrangement is all right when creating a formal effect with dwarf evergreens, such as flanking the front steps or the garden gate with them, but with flowering specimen trees, I think it is much better to hit upon an arrangement which looks as if the trees had grown naturally.

CROWD THEM

If you want to get a really beautiful effect with silver birches, try planting three small trees in a triangle only a foot apart. This crowding will make the trees grow slender and tall, and they will curve outward and away from one another, as they grow, making the prettiest and most graceful effect possible.

The silver birch is a singularly happy choice of tree for a small place, for while it grows quite tall eventually, it remains slender and doesn't occupy much room. The leaves cast a pleasant, dappled shade in summer rather than a deep gloom, and they take on brilliant shades of yellow in the fall, making the tree stand out most conspicuously. Even in mid-winter the birch is beautiful, with glistening white bark and reddish-brown twigs.

Just to make sure there will be no misunderstanding when you order your birch trees, use the correct Latin name, either Betula papyrifera, the paper birch, or Betula pendula, the European white birch. These are the good ones. There is another, Betula populifolia, the grey birch, which isn't nearly as good, and there is a lot of confusion about them, because when the trees are very young, the good ones have a rather dull grey bark while the poor one is a glistening white.

A Tree Grows Into History

The provincial cabinet Wednesday declared a tree an historic monument and ordered its protection.

The growing tree stands at Similkameen, formerly Osoyoos, some 200 miles southwest of Penticton. It was formerly two trees and was entwined by Indians at the time of the survey of the international border, between 1858 and 1862.

Stamp To Honor UN Air Group

A postage stamp, commemorating the work of the International Civil Aviation Organization, only specialized agency of the United Nations with its headquarters in Canada, will be issued by the post office department June 1. The organization strives for improvement of safety and regularity in international air transportation. The blue-colored, vertical five-cent stamp, featuring a bird in flight, was designed by Walter Lohse of Montreal.

Puck-Spotter Receives Award

Miss Roberta Ackers, 1675 Knight avenue, smiles as she receives a $50 cash award from Ed Lockley, president of the International Brotherhood of Bookbinders, Local No. 147. She was winner of the "spot the puck" contest, held in conjunction with the Allied Printing Trades Council exhibit at the Victoria Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition. Others in the picture, left to right, are William McCoubrey, vice-president of the Victoria Printing Pressmen and Assistants Union; Jack Melville, comptroller of Victoria Press Ltd.; William Mooney of Quality Press; and Jack Chapman, president of the Allied Printing Trades Council. Contest and booth were unique because of co-sponsorship of three printing trade unions and management of printing shops which included Acme Press, Buckle Printing Co., Colonist Printers, Hebden Printing Co., Quality Presss and Island Engravers Ltd.

New Group Set On Alcoholism

REGINA (CP)—A national group to deal with alcoholism problems will be formed, pending approval of boards and committees in the five provinces which now have individual programs.

Directors of the provincial groups meeting in Regina Friday decided a national body should be formed to co-ordinate provincial programs and allow co-operation in research.

It would be known as the Canadian Council on Alcoholism.

H. David Archibald of Toronto, executive director of the Ontario Alcoholism Research Foundation, was elected chairman. J. George Strachan of Edmonton, executive director of the Alcholism Foundation of Alberta, was named secretary. Offices will be rotated annually.

The national organization would embrace programs now carried out in Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Eat Your Troubles Away

Do You Look Athletic Or Pathetic?

BY LELORD KORDEL

Those who are undernourished and don't realize it will find a guide to better health and greater vigor in "Eat Your Troubles Away," latest work by Lelord Kordel, researcher and lecturer on nutrition, appearing regularly in The Daily Colonist.

Just what kind of picture do you have of yourself? Is it a tall, powerful man or could it be that you are closer to the sloping-shouldered, sunken-chested, pot-bellied composite model constructed by prominent scientists after they had taken the physical measurements of thousands of Second World War draftees?

Yet, both types have practically the same herritage. Due to faulty diet and sloppy mental attitude, you become the latter type—and not the athlete.

Virility's appeal lasts through grey hair and calendar years. When masculine, middle-age Ezio Pinza portrayed the mature hero of South Pacific, a popular magazine discovered that the other top stage and screen box-office draws—Clark Gable, Humphry Bogart, James Stewart, Gary Cooper, Cary Grant—were also men in or close to their fifties.

Stars cannot afford the unsightliness of paunch and drooping wrinkles in their positions as "men-of-the-world"—screen lovers to beautiful women.

We are not all Clark Gables . . . but can you afford to lose that promotion you've been seeking to a man who looks "younger"?

How important a part does your diet play in your appearance? During recent years scientists have defined the vital importance of adequate protein nutrition in promoting optimum growth and muscular development, and in maintaining the integrity and health of the body tissues.

When general health is impaired, and vital energies are low, the sex organs are sure to be weakened—usually more in proportion than any of the others. Long-continued dyspepsia is nearly always accompanied by weakened sexual power and desire. Food and drink directly affect sexual powers.

While many successful business men have gained oversize stomachs at 30 and are frightened at seeing their friends keeling over around them, some of their contemporaries are still making sports history.

Were this maintenance of virility during the forties wholly true, we would not be finding the general discrimination shown against hiring the average industrial worker after he passed that age. Industrial insurance companies insist they find older workers to be greater risks.

Dangerous Category

Overweight is the most serious threat to virility and health. If you are more than 20 per cent overweight, you are already in what physicians consider the dangerous catagory. Any excess avoirdupois beyond 10 per cent is a real liability and can be charged against your life-insurance premiums.

Besides the protruding abdomen, excess fat gives a man heavy-jowl and a middle-age appearance. By shortening his breath, it limits his activities, don't kid youself that the world loves a fat man. Certainly women don't!

Premature aging—as well as loss of virility—is caused by abnormal functioning of the endocrine glands, which secrete the male hormone, testosterone. This product influences both mental and physical health.

Hundreds of cases of men have responded to diets purposely planned to provide rich in animal proteins, iron, and copper, and the vitamins A, D, E, and B complex—plus large amounts of the new miracle workers, choline, inositol, and methionine.

Best known for its direct beneficial effect is vitamin E. Serious lack of this vitamin may cause sterility. All of the body cells need vitamin E for reproduction. Wheatgerm oil is the richest known food source of this essential vitamin. Other foods supplying it are sesame seeds, corn, egg yolk, and practically all organ meats.

The Queen's Color

WHILE many colorful displays have been arranged in connection with Greater Victoria's celebration of Empire Day, the naval ceremony of the parade of the Queen's Color at the Legislative Buildings on Monday forenoon will strike a keynote particularly fitting to the occasion. It was in Victoria that the late King George VI presented one of two Royal colors which were awarded to the Royal Canadian Navy, a rare honor and one in recognition of Canada's growing part at sea. There are only 13 naval Queen's Colors in the Commonwealth, and they are paraded on very limited and strictly formal occasions and then with traditional ceremony.

The King's Color has now become the Queen's Color, and the brisk and bright naval ceremony which will accompany its trooping here will be in honor of Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth. For thousands of Victorians memory will complete the graceful setting. They will recall the memorable scene at Beacon Hill Park shortly before the outbreak of the Second World War. In their minds they will honor the men in naval blue who gave up their lives in the sternest of all tests, action in the face of an enemy. And they will be glad, as the Commonwealth is glad, that the Queen's Color stands now for the steady, competent and treasured succession from father to daughter in the same inspired and selfless tradition.

For another reason it is fitting that the parade of the Queen's Color should take place in Victoria, which has been a home to the Royal Navy and the Royal Canadian Navy in almost unbroken line since the birth of the community. Esquimalt, once a Royal Naval Station, in modern times has become one of the two main training depots and bases of the RCN. Its officers, its ships and their complements afloat, and the progressive training establishments on shore have long ago become an integral part of the life of the city. There have been few public occasions in the past at which the public could show its appreciation of that enduring and valued contribution. Here will be one.

On Monday the men of Canada's fighting ships which gave such a serviceable account of themselves in Korean and other Orient waters will be represented in the Color guard, parade strength and gun teams of the Royal Canadian Navy. When the silken White Ensign, with the Royal cypher in the centre and blue and gold cords at the staff, is paraded it will be by men of whom this nation may well be proud.

Promise for the Future

THE day that adds natural gas to the oil and water powers already made available in British Columbia will be one of industrial and economic importance to everyone in the province. Whatever the necessary authorization and forms, it is the advent of the gas itself which will reinforce British Columbia's industrial potential by a natural and powerful stimulus. Cheap power in whatever form it may come is the first step to successful production; while a concentration of the means of energy is real wealth in a very tangible form. When Alberta natural gas, or our own if that day comes, can be delivered in the industrial centres of the province there will be added a third string to British Columbia's bow.

The time is ripe for it. The growing industrial and manufacturing output in the province has been catching up on our natural supplies of developed energy. There has been the threat of a brown-out in the hydro-electric supply. Rapidly increasing motor traffic, along with the spread of heavy oils in industry to serve an enlarging population, have made their own drains on the limited sources from which the basic fuels may be drawn. Natural gas would occupy an in-between position as an energy source of great use in the centres of population and of varying importance to all communities within reach of a flowline when that has been constructed.

Inasmuch as the development of British Columbia's resources is every bit as important to the nation as it is to this province, it is not likely that federal action will be unfavorable or too long delayed. There may be some to argue over what is to be done about control of natural gas when it is made available, but there will be many more who understand that the first and essential task is to secure this new source of supply while the opportunity is present in the facts. Its utility need never pose any real question. British Columbia needs all of the potential power resources that is can develop. Each link in that chain is one stretching forward towards a bright and promising future.

The fact that private enterprise is taking the initiative and is prepared to assume the risk of a new and ambitious undertaking of much importance to this province is not the smallest point in favor of the undertaking. The federal transport board should have little difficulty at arriving at a just and reasonable decision on a matter over which there has already been sufficient delay. British Columbia needs Alberta's natural gas, if it can get it.

A Commendable Move

THE City Council is to be commended on its decision to turn over to the Corps of Commissionaires the job of supervising the parking meters system. It has long been an absurdity to employ in this routine capacity young and vigorous officers of the police force who have much more pressing and important duties to perform, and no doubt the officers will themselves be glad to be relieved of a chore scarcely consistent with their dignity and ambitions as law enforcement officials. The move will permit them to attend to their rightful functions.

It has also to commend it the opportunity it provides of giving partial employment or employment of an easy physical nature to individuals whose age puts them beyond the competitive labor market. This category is too often ignored by society, yet their inherent right to live is as great as that of any other. In Victoria particularly there are many people whose means must be augmented if they are to do more than simply exist, men who have small pensions or incomes insufficient for modern exigencies. Too few opportunities are open to them, and it was because of this that the commissionaires corps was originally formed in a praiseworthy endeavour to help them find work according to their capacities. Any argument that the parking meter system should monopolize the services of able-bodied men at full-scale wage rates does not bear close examination, and in fact it has been a waste of public funds to divert policemen to such a task.

Entrusting the parking meter inspection and operation to the commissionaires also assures the council that a responsible body will be in charge, one whose integrity is a guarantee that the duties will be carried out faithfully and well. Altogether the decision is one that may be heartily endorsed. It will free the police of a burden and make good use of middle-aged or elderly persons who still have something valuable to contribute to the life of the community.

Conflict on Major Issues

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

SEVERAL important American policy arguments are going on now against the background of recent developments in Europe which Russia may have hoped would have an effect upon them.

Foremost, of course, is the attempt to make an estimate of what the Communists are really up to in their softened approach to European problems. It involves the attitude the United States will take at the projected Big Four conference.

* * *

The size and disposition of the foreign aid program is before Congress, where for several years there has been a disposition to cut it down as rapidly as possible. Senator George has just warned that to weaken it in the face of Soviet blandishments would be a great mistake.

Shelving in the House of the administration's army reserve program has reopened the debate over the safety of the current program for reducing the active force.

This is being accompanied by a renewal of the air force campaign to increase the gains it made to balance the ground force reduction.

After a month of speculation, the general estimate of Russia's new sweetness-and-light campaign is that it is designed primarily to interfere with West German rearmament and induce the establishment of a power vacuum in the middle of Europe.

But in America, as in Europe, there are always those who grasp eagerly at the slightest relaxation of Russian pressure as an excuse for advocating a halt in defensive measures until Russian intent can be thoroughly probed.

This, accompanied by the desire of finance ministers everywhere to balance their basic economies against defence measures, always causes conflict.

The Russians, of course, are tickled to death to get such a by-product from their tactics. They appear to realize now that their pressure has produced a reaction which is unhealthy for them.

Ready Money

Gerald Waring

By FRANK KELLEY

ONE gathers, from the publicity stemming out of a recent announcement to the effect that the tourist business is worth more than one billion dollars annually to Northwestern States and the Province of British Columbia, that many people are hoping there may be some practical ways and means devised for maintaining and even increasing such a substantial estimate, seeing it is nearly all attributable to well-placed advertising supported by the wealth of natural attractions so consistently displayed throughout Northwestern America.

There are other areas of this continent which have eye-appeal and woo touring-travellers to good purpose. Some of these have been attracting the tourist for a long time now; and as the "market" is mainly confined to this continent, it stands to reason that while there are undoubtedly repeaters from year to year who hope to see something difficult, the greater number attracted seasonally are first acquaintances in any area. As it is in other parts of America, so it is hereabouts. Competition for the tourist dollar being what it is it would seem more or less a must to provide new inducements to assure a source of revenue that is mainly "found".

Possessing beauties which have won the praises of travellers for many years, the attractions of Vancouver Island as publicized by tourist bureaus of government and municipality, it would still be good business for all concerned to put on display some of the loveliness still unavailable to anyone. It is no secret that the Island of Vancouver, although it has been occupied since 1843, when Victoria was founded, and part of the Dominion of Canada since 1867, while developed fairly well throughout the E. and N. grant since the 1880's, is still practically roadless throughout its greatest area.

* * *

What the Island needs to assure its share in the billion dollars of competitive currency in the future is a highway that will give access to a wonderland of scenic vistas as yet unexploited and practically unknown.

That highway should commence where the present highway ends and could continue by water grades mainly over the route surveyed by Canadian Northern Railway engineers before the Great War began. It would provide a highway by stream and lake, teeming with trout, down to Lake Nimpkish and on to the top of the Island, where there is more loveliness, completing what all Vancouver Islanders, eager to see the Island develop to the limit of its possibilities, should welcome and agitate for.

Construction of such a road would cost some money, it is true, but through the annual share of a billion dollars assured, any reasonable outlay should be a good investment to undertake. Such a highway would also enable Vancouver Island to forge ahead in the manner its natural resources warrant, for in addition to its great timber stands it has great metal potential as well as some districts, limited maybe, that would appeal to the pioneering agriculturist.

Lacking any intent of providing access to little-known Vancouver Island beyond Campbell River via an all-Island highway, the government might supply the necessary funds to display the beauties of Strathcona Park, for the benefit of the people for whom it was set aside over forty years ago, by constructing a motor road to some point within its boundaries, from whence trails might invite the tourist to make close-up contacts with its high places and lovely alpine meadows.

Reports from Ottawa

MEET the hangman — or, as the parliamentary committee on capital and corporal punishment prefers to title him, the Public Executioner.

He's a pasty white, bald-headed man of 300 pounds, with dark blue glasses. Since 1934 he has ranged the length and breadth of this country, snuffing out the lives of more than 200 men and women whom the law said must die.

He speaks very little English, so he answers the committee's questions through his "manager," a fluently bilingual official of the sheriff's office in Montreal. With one exception, the entire Senate-Commons committee has allowed itself to be spirited to the RCMP barracks at nearby Rockcliffe, where the man whom few see and fewer know was waiting to give his views on hanging.

The one committee member who wouldn't attend is Maurice Boisvert (Lib., Nicolet-Yamaska, Que.). He opposed hearing the hangman because, he said, it would damage national unity to focus attention on the fact that a French-Canadian carries out this grisly business.

* * *

Monsieur Branchot — his professional nom-de-corde—is not exactly at ease, but he answers the questions readily enough. He tells all—about erection of the gallows and calculations as to the proper length of rope; how he ties the knot and greases the rope; how he binds the condemned man's hands in the death cell and his feet at the gallows; how he puts on the hood and the noose and springs the trap.

There's certain pride of craftsmanship evident in his claim that it's all over in one minute; that the end comes sharp and quick with never an "accident." His predecessor, he says, decapitated some, and had to chase one man around the prison courtyard to hang him a second time.

Curiously enough, M. Branchot speaks well of the objects of his attentions. They are always co-operative. But he reports matter-of-factly that some sheriffs invite their friends in to see the show. And he complains of a lack of dignity when public officials—sheriffs and attending doctors—get sloshed on the job.

If you drink, don't hang, and if you hang, don't drink seems to be his advice.

* * *

M. Branchot isn't against hanging. He thinks hanging is the quickest method of despatching a man if performed in the proper (i.e., Branchot) way. Unconsciousness comes immediately, he says, and death in 10 to 22 minutes. His answers disagree sharply with those of other witnesses, whose gruesome tales of men and women strangling to death have built up sentiment in the committee in favor of some other method of execution.

M. Branchot urges establishment of a central place of execution, and meanwhile wants extra guards to keep the morbidly curious away from small jails while he's at work.

It's hard to tell whether he enjoys his work, but it's plain that to him it's a living. He's employed by the Province of Quebec, and freelances in other provinces. He charges $50 for each day he's retained; $200 for each hanging and $400 if the job is in the Northwest Territories. If a sentence is commuted he collects $100. His main problem is help. Can't get an assistant these days who'll stay with it and learn the trade, as he did under the late Mr. Ellis.

Coin or Culture

From The Ottawa Journal

OF course Canadian taxpayers would prefer the CBC to be self-sustaining and never have to appeal for assistance from the Treasury. It costs millions of dollars each year, and millions are hard to come by, even in times as good as these. But it does not need long explanation to demonstrate that Canada's sparse and scattered population, the great distances involved in distribution of programs and the persistent temptation to use cheaper imported programs create special problems which are even more difficult in costly television than in radio.

The purpose of the CBC has been to ensure that Canadian programs have Canadian content and are made available to the greatest possible number. Revenue has not been the sole consideration, and if the CBC becomes engaged in a frantic scramble to make ends meet we may expect Canadian artists to suffer loss of employment, the extension of radio and TV services to be delayed and the nurturing of Canadian culture and nationhood made less important than earning money with run-of-the-mill imported programs.

Often enough, despite its cost, the CBC seems cheap enough.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

The following conversation occurred at an oral test for railway employees.

The examiner: "Two express trains are announced on the same line but in opposite directions. What will you do?"

"I use the signal-post and reroute one of the trains to another line."

"Very well. Now suppose the points are frozen and the two lines are occupied. What will you do then?"

"I wave the red flag and set rockets."

"It's night-time and the rockets are wet."

"Then I wave a red lantern."

"Suppose there is no oil in the lantern?"

"Then I would call my little boy.

"In heaven's name, why?"

"He loves train crashes."

Under the Dome

By RAY BAINES
Colonist Legislative Reporter

IN politics appearances can be as important as achievements. A government which concentrates entirely on the latter and neglects the former may be tossed out on its ear.

Political parties, and even movements, know that people (i.e. voters) are more likely to get mad at something they can understand than at something they can't. Pay a half million too much for a road contract and only a chartered accountant can point it out. (And another chartered accountant can prove it is a half million too little.)

But let a politician spend $1,500 on some new furniture for his office, or run up a $700 expense account on a week-long trip, this is something the average man can point a finger at. Now they're talking his language.

Opposition parties are aware of this, too. They will really go to town on the pennies and let the pounds take care of themselves.

* * *

There's nothing like a mislaid voucher for $78 in the public accounts to set the public's collective blood boiling. It's no use telling some little guy working in a store in Victoria that the $63,000,000 Pacific Great Eastern Railway loan will drive the province into the depths of economic ruin. You can't prove it by him.

If the government of B.C. claims it has reduced the debt by $50,000,000, he says: "That's nice, I guess." If the Opposition tells him the government has increased the debt by $100,000,000, he says: "That's not so good, I guess."

Last year someone rose in the House in great indignation to inquire why the Minister of So and So had purchased himself a new brief case out of public funds. And what's more, he wasn't the only one.

* * *

It's no use the government saying "Oh, come off it, that's just peanuts, let's talk about something important," because that is important. The very idea, spending public money on new briefcases. When are we going to get public officials who think of the people instead of their own comfort? Throw them out!

We want roads. We want lower taxes. We want new schools. We want hospitals, pensions and municipal aid. We want sound legislation and equitable treatment. But what's more important, we want public representatives who don't go around buying new brief cases.

That is why politicians who value the mandate the voters have given them, must be aware of the little things. They must try to give good government to stay in office, but they must also avoid appearing to enjoy it. Often it really is a sacrifice. But even if it is not, it is important that it appears that way.

* * *

When B.C.'s present premier was merely a successful hardware merchant and plain ordinary MLA, he used to drive a Packard. Now he is the premier, he drives a Chev. If he ever becomes Prime Minister of Canada, he will have to ride a bicycle or people will think he is making good in politics. When Einar Gunderson was a Social Credit candidate for office he drove an Oldsmobile. Now he is working for the government as an economic advisor on federal-provincial relations, he drives a Ford Zephyr. A fellow needs to knock off a couple of cylinders and several inches of wheelbase or people will talk.

Actually B.C. cabinet ministers aren't very well paid. Considering the position they hold and the responsibilities thrust on them, $7,500 a year isn't any fortune. Maybe some of them drive three-year-old cars because they can't afford anything better. Come to think of it, there are a couple of ministers who don't seem to have cars at all. If they ride on the bus, they're in office for 20 years.

There are, of course, others who are rugged individualists. B.C.'s hard-working highways minister drives a Chrysler and drove one before he was elected, I believe. What's more he travels around B.C. in a plane! Maybe if he would turn in the government's twin-engine amphibian on a 10-year-old single-engine Piper Cub, people would not get so angry. And that Chrysler must cost him a pretty vote.

* * *

The common touch. Politicians for 100 years have known about it. Some carry it to extremes like the senatorial candidate in the U.S. who campaigned with a guitar and Stetson. But it works. If the Liberals would quit talking about the provincial debt and instead buy smaller cars, they've got a chance in the next election.

With the Classics

Little lamb, who made thee?
Dost thou know who made thee,
Gave thee life and bade thee feed
By the stream and o'er the mead;
Gave thee clothing of delight,
Softest clothing, woolly, bright;
Gave thee such a tender voice,
Making all the vales rejoice?
Little lamb, who made thee?
Dost thou know who made thee?

Letters to the Editor

Not Scabs

Your report of the Trades and Labor Council and remarks of one John Aubry and another delegate makes one wonder what the union is really. "Soon you will not get a job unless you have a row of medals and are between 50 and 65" says [illegible] to the Corps of Comissionaires as "scabs."

Surely good citizens who have actually fought the battles in war should not be left in semi-poverty whilst those of any category of citizenry should get jobs by merely signing up in a union and paying a fee.

Unless qualifications have changed greatly I feel safe in saying that no member of the Corps is taken on strength unless his past conduct in services and public life has passed a close examination. Therefore they are not only men who have served in war but also are good citizens. Any labor union that shows so little appreciation of war veterans is qualified as a scab on society as a whole.

Furthermore, why should a healthy able bodied young man (i.e. policeman) be satisfied to mount guard on parking meters? Let them get on with the job of controlling gangsters etc. and leave parking meters to men old enough to feel their years—also with years enough to have good judgment. Permit me to offer congratulations to the city council on their decision.

Trapping Animals

I agree with everything L. Lokke has to say regarding the cruel trapping of helpless, innocent animals. It is a pity there are not more like your correspondent in this country. Whereas Christ only suffered a few hours agony on the cross, the victims of his dreadful creation suffer the torments of the damned; sometimes for weeks, as I am told by a trapper. Think of the physical and mental torture suffered by these creatures: fear, thirst, hunger and agony!

I am told that their bodies are often devoured, while still alive, by predatory animals, and their eyes picked out by birds. All this in order to supply booze money for heartless brutes and satisfy the vanity of women. The latter, being accessories of these shameful crimes against our little friends, will have to suffer accordingly.

Remember that the law of the Universe is based on retaliation for: 'As ye sow so shall ye reap' and 'Whatsoever measure ye mete the same shall be meted out to you.' Grey Owl was right when he wondered how any so-called Christian could wear furs, when they must have known that every hair in the pelt had quivered with agony.

BRIGHTEST PLANET

Civil Defence

The problem that faces a civil defence planner today is to bring about the reaction of some kind of protection for the public against the terrifying destructive potency of modern nuclear weapons. It is hard for anyone who is set in their thinking to envisage this potency. At Yucca Flats only small atomic bombs were used.

Everyone within a radius of five miles from the ground zero of an exfission from a well-placed hydro-summary tactical dispersal of these people over a 20 or 30 mile radius—if the plans were well-laid—would give a good chance of survival to three-quarters of them, wherever the bomb fell.

"It is astonishing that the Canadian civil" defence leaders have been blind to the developments that have taken place in the States. They have been wedded to the ideas of the United Kingdom, where geographical conditions are quite different from North America's.

It is astonishing, also, that the Canadian public should have tolerated so long, and at all levels of government—city, provincial, and federal—such complacency and ineptitude as has been shown by the people elected and responsible for creating adequate and workable civil defence measures.

Public monies have been spent over the years, but where are the results? Can those responsible for the expenditure of these monies—provincial and municipal—show the public what has been achieved, and assure them that there has been no negligence in the supervision of these expenditures?

Holland Point

I read in the local papers the large amount of money spent already on Holland Point, clearing land, etc. A much quicker easier, cheaper way to get rid of brush, trees, etc., is to set fire to them.

Then with a huge bulldozer to push out stumps and fill in holes, and a big plow-disc to turn sods and level the ground, it should be seeded with grass, a few shade trees planted citizens donating bushes, plants seeds, and all citizens would have a chance of helping to beautify our own park. All could be done well within four weeks, providing folks really stayed on the job and worked non-union hours. All could be accomplished within 30 days and at considerable lower cost, by volunteer labor and donations. Many splendid ideas have been and will be carried out everywhere and all those interested could share and enjoy an active part in public improvements.

Salk Vaccine

An article in the Colonist quotes Dr. Salk as stating that it is most important to leave an interval of at least seven months between the second and third injections of polio vaccine. Our health authorities would appear to be ignoring this advice and plan on only a three-week interval.

There must be some good reason for this but it is not apparent and I feel that the public are due an explanation.

Chief Warms Up

Chief Arthur Albany of the Songhees Indian band will wear this mask, which is six generations old, during ceremonial dances at the Island Indian festival in Maple Bank Park on the reserve on Admirals road tomorrow and Monday. Eight Indians will take part in the dances, which the chief says used to last anywhere from two hours to two days. Events begin at 10.30 a.m. each day and include a coronation, a christening, guessing games, mountains of food, and field and water sports.

Polio-Crippled Children Walk After Month of New Treatment

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese doctor claims extremely successful results with a treatment for paralytic polio.

Dr. Hideo Sato told Kyodo news agency he has used a new drug on nine pateitns. He said an 11-year-old boy and a four-year-old girl, crippled by polio, were able to walk in less than a month of treatment.

Dr. Sato said he used adrenocortical hormones, strengthened with special vitamins derived from B-2. He found the drug, in tablet form, helped improve the blood circulation in the paralyzed part of the body.

The doctor said the drug is nomally used for treating streptomycin deafness. He said he had decided to try it after he noted that symptoms of streptomycin deafness closely resemble those of infantile paralysis.

The doctor cautioned, however, that it is still too early to say definitely if his treatment is permanently effective.

Two Fires Hit Man's Property

A fire, which apparently started at separate spots, swept through two acres of timber and brush on the property of E. H. Lohbrunner, Lohbrunner road, i Saanich, Thursday night.

Saanich firemen employed a water wagon for two and a half hours before the blaze was extinguished. Firemen said cause of the fires was not known.

T. G. Custance, 4351 Shelbourne, was restricted to business driving for one month and fined $35 in city police court yesterday after pleading guilty to careless driving.

Police said he caused $1,500 damage to his car when he struck a Yates street traffic island while driving and talking with a friend.

* * *

Douglas R. Jardine, HMCS Malahat, was fined $40 for driving without a licence and for failing to signal when pulling into a line of traffic.

Edward Harris, Superior street, was fined $2.50 for a meter violation and assessed $2.50 costs for failing to answer a summons.

Badoo Singh, 790 Hillside, was fined $15 for having inadequate emergency brakes on a loaded logging truck.

* * *

Stanley L. Kincaid, stationed at Work Point Barracks, pleaded guilty yesterday to assaulting Frances McEwen and was remanded until Wednesday for sentence.

Kincaid, who had been drinking, struck her in the eye after she refused his advances, the girl said.

'Church by Lake' Opening May 29

A community church for the Elk lake area, to be known as "The Church by hte Lake" will be opened with two services Sunday, May 29, Rev. J. N. Clark said yesterday.

The $15,000 structure is located at the intersection of Hamsterley and the Patricia Bay highway. Two years ago, its congregation numbered six persons each Sunday; now, 60 or more persons attend each service.

Members of the Congregation represent all denominations. The minister is a Baptist clergyman, but Herbert Amos, leader of the campaign to raise much of the $15,000, is a member of the United Church and another church board official is an Anglican.

The church retains a connection with the Baptist communion, which gave $2,000 and lent another $3,000 toward its total cost.

Morocco now has a population of more than 8,000,000 including 363,000 Europeans.

Move Against Terrorist Cult

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—British troops launched a powerful new campaign to smash the anti-white Mau Mau terrorist cult Friday after the terrorists failed to respond to a new surrender bid.

The governor said the Mau Mau leaders' offer of a token surrender, intended to show their sincerity, did not materialize by the noon deadline.

Informed sources said a Mau Mau emissary did keep a noon rendezvous with government men at a secret forest meeting place. He was not one of the top terrorist leaders and he brought a message asking for further time and suggesting further talks.

In the absence of any surrenders, however, the terrorist messenger's request was refused and he was told his confederates now must take their chances against the renewed military offensive.

The new campaign against the Mau Mau is expected to see the use of a commando strategy developed by Lt.-Gen. Gerald Lathbury, leading British paratroop commander in the Second World War, who took over the Kenya command from Gen. Sir George Erskine last month.

Under the strategy, Lathbury intends to send virtually self-sufficient small units of troops into the jungles to harass the terrorists constantly.

Loggers' Blood Puts Drive Over Quota

•DUNCAN—East Indians of the B.C. Forest Products operations at Youbou and nearby logging camps put the blood donor clinic over the top Thursday in spite of an increased quota over last year.

This year's quota of 200 pints of blood was exceeded by four. Chairman of the local committee was Mrs. Ian Raynor.

The St. John Ambulance Association and the Red Cross combined in putting on a demonstration of the three systems of artificial respiration during Save a Life Week, being observed in the logging industry at Youbou.

Awards for first aid: Mrs. Kathleen Raynor and Mrs. Colin Campbell, label and 10-year award; Gilbert Larson and S'an Neal, medallions; Miss Mary Thompson, Miss Donna Nokes, Miss Rita Heard, Miss Lorna Seed, Mrs. Reg Moss, Mrs. Pat Tallon, Mrs. Verna Younge (voucher), Mrs. R. Clough, Reg. Moss, Vince Forsberg and Pat Tallon, certificates.

Eight Juveniles Face Courts After Up-Island Outbreaks

Central Vancouver Island authorities yesterday were cleaning up the loose ends of an [illegible] of juvenile offenses [illegible] that included theft of three cars, one of which was wrecked and another damaged, and [illegible] they didn't know why they had escaped. Three of the fugitives, who had appeared before the magistrate before, received a sharp warning that they were "heading for Oakalla" with such behavior.

Four boys were sentenced at Duncan to a year in jail for stealing two of the cars. The first one they took Wednesday from Morrison Motors, rolling it over three times as the climax of a joyride at 110 miles an hour. At Ladysmith they took the second car to drive back to Duncan where they were caught Thursday.

Transferred from juvenile court to open court on the car theft charges were David Williams of Seattle, fugitive from an industrial school, Percy and Caspar Jimmy and Herman Norris, the last three from the Duncan district.

STORES ENTERED

Breaking and entering charges were adjourned indefinitely. Stores entered were Martin's Men's Wear, where one of the boys switched clothing, Baron's Children's Wear, Jayne's Hardware and Hudson's Hardware. Nothing was reported stolen except the clothing from Martin's.

At Nanaimo, the four fugitives from Brannan lake boys' industrial school who were recaptured Thursday appeared before Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts yesterday and were remanded until their parents could appear in court.

Still wearing the pyjamas in which they fled the school, the four boys told the magistrate they didn't know why they had

The stolen car in which they were driving toward Victoria ran into a ditch on the Malahat near Shawnigan Lake cutoff. One boy was captured shortly afterward, and the RCMP's dog, Rip, from Parksville tracked the others down.

The car, owned by a Nanaimo minister, received considerable malicious damage, police said.

The boys escaped from the school by prying open a ventilator in the security wing. The staff member on duty at the time was reported suspended.

Familiar Ferry Leaving

NANAIMO — The Atrevida, part and parcel of the lives of Gabriola Island and Nanaimo residents for 23 years, is going afield for a new career of service.

Replaced by the larger Eena as ferry between Nanaimo and the Island, the Atrevida will run between Texada island and Westview starting next week.

Capt. H. C. R. Davis, owner of the Eena and Atrevida, announced the climax of the vessel's long career. She started her runs here in 1931. Her engineer on the new run will be Bill Piper of Gabriola, and a skipper is to be appointed.

She is 70 feet long with 20-foot beam, and can carry six automobiles.

Not the least of her services to Nanaimo folk have been numerous moonlight cruises through the Gulf islands.

In her new career she will make the five-mile run from Vananda to Westview, between 12 and 14 round trips a week.

Board To Confer With Williston

DUNCAN — Education Minister Ray Williston will meet trustees of District 65 (Cowichan) Tuesday evening in the Cowichan high school library.

The meeting is being held at the request of some members of the board, made some three weeks ago, chairman George E. Bonner said in announcing the meeting.

"The meeting called for Tuesday was not a direct result of the meeting of the board Thursday night from which three trustees left before the business of the meeting was concluded," Mr. Bonner said.

Trustees George Whittaker, John Homer and George Poppleston left the meeting Thursday in protest at action of the board on the allocation of pupils in opposition to the recommendations of the inspector of schools.

As a result of the motion by Trustee Ross Marshall, which carried by a vote of five to three, Inspector Bergie Thorsteinsson has been instructed to carry out the orders of the board with regard to allocation of pupils for the next school year.

There will be a swing-shift for junior high pupils in Cowichan high, pupils requiring transportation being accommodated on the first shift, and others within three miles of the school attending the second shift.

Pender Span Opening Set

PENDER ISLAND, B.C. (CP)—Plans for official opening June 1 of the new bridge connecting the Pender islands have been announced.

Special excursions will be run during the morning of June 1 by both transportation companies serving the Penders. The Lady Rose will leave Steveston at 8:30 calling at Galiano, Mayne and Saturna Islands to transport visitors to the bridge where special wharves will be built.

The ferry Cy Peck will leave Swartz Bay on Vancouver Island at 11, reaching Port Washington at 11:45 where automobile transportation is being provided for visitors arriving without cars.

Highways Minister Gaglardi is scheduled to cut the ribbon at 12:30 p.m.

Timbermen Whip Indians, 12-8; Face Rocks Today

Indians	4	1	3	0	32	41	2

Last night's score: Nanaimo 12 at Indians 8.
Next game, tonight: VICTORIA at Nanaimo.

Victoria Shamrocks and Nanaimo Timbermen clash at Nanaimo tonight in the most-eagerly awaited game of the young Inter-City Lacrosse League season, but first place won't be the prize for the winners.

Timbermen made certain they would still be on top regardless of tonight's game by handing Mount Pleasant Indians their third straight defeat by scoring a 12-8 win at Vancouver Forum.

It was the third win in four games for Timbermen and their first in two away from home. And they did it without the services of star goalie Fred Fulla, Gogie Stewart, Bob Lumley and Bob Raffle, four regulars.

Led by Jack Lumley, who scored twice and passed for another goal; Lisle Scott, who scored once and set up four goals, and Derry Davies, who had a goal and three assists, the Nanaimo club was never headed.

WELL PROTECTED

Timbermen guarded goalie Alf Shuker so well that the low-scoring Indians couldn't score in the first half. Nanaimo carried a 3-0 lead into the second half, spilt six goals in the third quarter, and got the odd goal in 11 as play opened up in the final 15 minutes.

Nanaimo made good use of their odd-man play, scoring six goals while Indians played shorthanded. Only Ken Jones and Skip Mackay were able to beat Shuker more than once, each scoring twice.

Tonight's game, already a sellout with at least 150 Victoria fans making the trip, should give some indication of whether or not the vastly-improved Timbermen can handle their hated Island rivals this season.

Whether or not the four who missed last night's game will be in the line-up tonight is not known, but the Timbermen will certainly floor the best possible club.

O'HEARN OUT

Shamrocks will be at full strength except for Nip O'Hearn. The star defenseman is still nursing stomach ulcers, but is expected to be ready for action next week. However, Pee Wee Bradshaw, who missed Wednesday night's game against Pilseners because of a shoulder injury, will be in the line-up.

Coach Red McMillan announced no other line-up changes last night. Al Davies and Bob Monaghan and Jack Thompson and Bill Bamford will be the defence pairings and Geordy Johnston will be in goal.

Up front, it's Bradshaw, Al Gill and Jack Bionda on one line; Bob Dobbie, Jackie Northup and Lou Landess on another and Harry Irwin, Whitey Severson and Larry Booth on the third. Art Green will be the utility player. Game time is 9.

Kerr, Painter Qualify For B.C. Amateur

Lyle Crawford, defending British Columbia amateur golf champion, yesterday bested 19-year-old club-mate Kevin Riley in a sudden-death playoff to take qualifying honors in this year's B.C. amateur tournament.

Playing over their home Point Grey Golf Club course, the pair tied with scores of 146 in the 36-hole qualifying round and Crawford won with a par five on the first hole.

Only two members of the five-man Victoria contingent—Laurie Kerr and Vic Painter, both of the Colwood Golf Club—gained places among the 32 qualifiers. Kerr put together rounds of 74 and 79 for a 153 total while Painter came in with 78-80—156.

Bill McColl of Colwood, finalist in this year's B.C. match-play open and member of the 1949 Willingdon Cup team, failed to catch a berth. One of the tourney favorites, McColl had a 78 in the morning round and a big 82 on his afternoon trip for 160, one stroke behind three golfers who tied for the last qualifying berth.

Two other favored Victorians who failed to qualify were George Andrews and Bob Hunt.

Crawford and Riley each played both their rounds over the par-71 course in 73 strokes in leading the field of 98 golfers. One stroke back were John Russell of Point Grey, Quilchena's Ron Willey and John Johnston of Marine Drive.

The lowest single round was a morning 69 posted by George Cotton of Quilchena, who finished tied with Dicky Moore at 149.

Qualifying scores:

146—Lyle Crawford, Kevin Riley.
147—John Russell, Ron Willey, John Johnston.
149—Dick Moore (74-75), George Cotton (69-80).
150—Len Morgan (79-71), Rod Kidd (76-74), Gordon MacKenzie (78-72).

Students Down City To Gain Semi-Finals

Chinese Students moved into the semi-finals of the Senior Men's Softball Tournament as they downed Victoria City, 7-2, at Central park last night.

Sponsored by the Greater Victoria Celebrations Committee, the eight-team tourney will continue with two games today, Sunday and Monday. The final is set for 6.30 Monday evening with the first two teams scheduled to split $400 in prize money.

Cec Fletchers tangle with North Vancouver Firefighters at Central park this afternoon at 2.30 and United Services will clash with Trade-Ats at 6.30.

Righthander Ellis Achtem toiled on the mound for Students, scattering seven hits as he tossed his second win of the season, and his second in two nights. Achtem struck out four batters and issued four bases on balls.

QUICK THREE

Students scored their winning runs in the sixth inning, putting together a base on balls and four singles to chase three runs across the plate and shatter a 2-2 deadlock.

At Beacon Hill Thursday, Menzies Fuel took over fourth place by banging out an 18-4 decision over Tillicums.

Marciano-Style Soccer Hit

LONDON (BUP) — British soccer experts, who saw Wednesday's Spain-versus-England match in Madrid, compared the Spaniards' play in the 1-1 draw with Rocky Marciano's tactics in his fight with London's Don Cockell Monday night in San Francisco.

The football writers alleged frequent Spanish fouls and "dirty" tactics. The soccer headlines included: "Spaniards Maul England—Marciano Style," and "Spaniards Try a Marciano."

Bob Pennington of The Daily Express said the British players "were bitter against the tactics of the Spaniards, who copied Marciano's mauler technique and called it football."

The Daily Herald's Clifford Webb said, "What a Marciano battle it was. Hands, knees and boomps-a-daisy from the Spaniards, as well as some all-in-wrestling and shrieking, screaming abuse from 125,000 shirt-sleeved, white-hot fans. . . . The fouls on Stanley Matthews were monotonous in their regularity."

High School Sports Champions

Victoria High and Esquimalt High School athletes shared individual honors at the annual inter-high school track and field championships yesterday with each school claiming two champions. Left to right are Joe Haegert of Victoria, who won his second straight junior championship; Jennifer Savage of Esquimalt, junior girls' titleholder; Pat Lisle of Esquimalt, who won her second senior girls' title in three years, and Bill Hitch of Victoria High, senior boys' champion. By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cleveland Indians American League lead was trimmed to a thin half-game Friday night when the Tribe took an 1-4 lacing from Detroit Tigers and the second-place New York Yankees whipped Baltimore Orioles 7-5.

Tigers broke the game wide open with five runs in the seventh against the Indians. Until then, things had been fairly close, although neither starter—Bob Lemon of the Tribe and Billy Hoeft of Tigers—lasted beyond the fourth.

Lemon hung on until the third, gave up four runs and was charged with the defeat. Al Aber, the third and cleanup man of the Tiger hurlers, was the winner. A crowd of 50,004 was on hand.

Bob Turley received credit for his seventh victory of the campaign for the Yanks, but it did not come the easy way. He wasn't on the premises at the end. During his tenure, he walked nine and struck out only three. Manager Casey Stengel decided he had enough when he passed the first four batters to face him in the sixth.

By the time Jim Konstanty got the side out, the Orioles had edged to 6-5. But he and Tom Morgan held them at bay the rest of the way.

TWO HITTER

In other American League action, Art Ditmar tossed a smooth two hitter against Chicago White Sox to lead Kansas City A's to a 1-0 triumph, while Washington Senators, behind the hurling of Bob Porterfield and Johnny Schmitz, turned back Boston Red Sox 3-1.

In the National League, Philadelphia Phillies showed they were not quite ready to be buried by beating Brooklyn 5-3. It was the Brooks' fourth loss in a row and cut their lead to 6½ games as the second-place New York Giants squashed Pittsburgh 6-3.

The Phillies collected enough runs in the first three innings to drop the Dodgers, tapping Billy Loes for two each in the second and third. Andy Seminick added an insurance home run in the ninth. Robin Roberts, who has won half the Phillies 10 decisions, went all the way for the winners. The Phils had lost 15 of 16 games before Friday night.

Bill Taylor, another of the Giants' pinch hitters extraordinary, broke up the ball game when he swatted a home run with two mates on to break a tie. The blow came on the first pitch by Max Surkont and sent the Buccos to their eighth straight loss. The Giants had to come from behind to tie it with two in the seventh. Reliefer Hoyt Wilhelm was the winner.

CRICKET GAMES TODAY

Two Victoria and District Cricket Association games are slated today. Oak Bay and Five C's will meet at Windsor park while Cowichan will host Alcos at Duncan. Both games start at 2.30.

Line-ups:

Oak Bay—J. Sparks, D. Warren, D. Hanson, H. Dutton, A. Kaye, O. Odgers, J. Redwood, J. Thornton, R. Hebday, D. Hales, B. Bills.

Northwest Cycle Stars Enter Races Here Today

Most of the leading bicycle-racing stars of the Pacific Northwest will be on hand at Beacon Hill Park this afternoon when the Victoria Cycling Club stages a three-race meet featuring a 15-mile competition for the Brock Whitney Trophy.

Open to all riders, the feature race will be 15 laps around the Beacon Hill circuit with contestants sprinting at the end of each lap in competition for a special award.

Also scheduled are a five-mile class "B" event for riders who have never won an open event, and a two-mile race for pedal pushers 16 years of age and under.

On Sunday morning most of the senior cyclists will compete in a 25-mile time trial and Monday morning will take part in a 25-mile massed-start event over a closed course in downtown Nanaimo.

Starry Gary Lund and Bob Hartman, both of Seattle, and Oregon State champion Gary Hodges are the American riders entered. Louis Zanatta, Norm Pearson, Ed Barry, Ole Neilsen, Mario Brunoro, Rod Wilson, Dale Sims, Bob Moffatt and Chris Eng are definite entries from Vancouver. Canadian champion Jim Davies, Jr., and Chuck Millman may also make the trip from Vancouver.

Contestants from the Victoria Cycling Club include Mal Potts, winner of the recent race for the Oscar Swanson Trophy in Vancouver, Canadian junior champion Phil Potts, Alan Jones, Ray Burley, Alf Petersen and Dave Cooper.

Cabinet Okays Harness Meet

The provincial cabinet yesterday approved six days of harness racing starting July 1 for Sandown park at Sidney.

The dates are July 1, 2, 4, 8, 9 and 9. The racing will be staged by the Colwood Park Association Ltd. of Vancouver.

The government received the application from William Randall, a director of the Colwood Park Association, two weeks ago. In the meantime the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association protested the application on the grounds the dates would conflict with the flat racing at Lansdowne park in Vancouver.

The government is expected to net between $15,000 and $20,000 from pari-mutuel betting and amusement taxes.

About 75 standard bred horses will take part in the Sidney harness meet. The only other harness racing in B.C. has been held at Ladner.

If the first meet is successful, the Randall interests plan to make it an annual 14-day July meet.

City Shifts Line-Up, Meets Royals Today

Victoria, City, needing the points to retain a chance of second-half honors, will field a slightly revamped lineup this afternoon at Macdonald park in an attempt to end the Coast Soccer League winning streak of the New Westminster Royals at four games.

After losing their first second-half match, Royals have won four in a row to take the lead. They lead the Victoria side by five points with five matches left for both clubs. A New Westminster victory would leave City seven points behind with only a possible eight points left, an almost impossible situation.

Victoria club officials have announced a new right-wing combination which has Chummy Crabbe on the outside and Bill McMillan, usually a half-back, at the inside spot.

Ab Travis will be on the other side of centre-forward Ken Kibbert along with George Wright while Dick McLaren takes over at right half.

John Pickburn will be at centre-half and Harold Holroyd completes the intermediate line. Harry Carruthers and Bill Bamford will start at fullback and Pete Winters will be in goal. Bob Clarke is the only spare listed.

Royals will have Ron Bissett in goal, guarded by Stiddart and Cairns. Victorian Joe Robbins will pivot the half-line between Ernie Durante and Bill Hislop.

Up front, the Royals have made a number of changes, one of which has coach Gogie Stewart starting at left wing. John Halley will be making his first Victoria appearance for some time, starting at inside right. Fabris at right wing, Murray at centre and Price at inside left complete the New Westminster attacking line. However, Royals have standout spares in Alan Sawyer and Ivan Carr and can also call on Foster, Henderson and Campbell if there is need for many changes.

Game time is 2.30.

Thursday's score: Esquimalt 2, Heaneys 0.

Victoria West and Duncan Native Sons will continue their Victoria and District Football Association promotion-relegation series in a match at Macdonald park at 6.30 p.m. today.

Wests, last-place club in the first division race, hold a 1-0 lead over the second division Sons in the best-of-three series.

At Lansdowne park Thursday night, Esquimalt retained its slim hopes of capturing the first-division title by blanking first-place Heaneys, 2-0.

U.S. Fighters Win Honors; Hix Rated Tops

BY JIM TANG

A crowd estimated in excess of 1,500 turned up at Memorial Arena last night to watch the finals in the International Tournament of Champions, which was jointly sponsored by the Victoria Optimist Club and the Greater Victoria Boxing Association.

Ten championships were decided and there were nothing but satisfied customers when the two-day show closed with the presentation of prizes to the champions and runners-up. There was action and a lot of top-notch boxing and the bouts were run off without a hitch.

The more experienced Washington fighters took most of the honors by providing the champions in eight weight divisions. The other two championships were won by Vancouver fighters.

Five city boxers reached the finals, and while none was successful, four put up good fights and the fifth was unfortunate enough to be matched against the fighter who won the coveted Optimist Trophy as Champion of Champions.

CLOSE DECISION

Brian O'Hare, who won twice on Thursday night, lost a close decision to Vancouver's John Phillips in the flyweight class and Bert Wilkinson, substituting for Garry Williams of Vancouver in the middleweight final without having fought previously this year, did well and lasted the distance against hard-hitting Jess Klinkberg of Seattle.

Bruce McLay lost on a TKO to Bob Hix, the lightning-fast colored youngster from Seattle, in the bantamweight final.

Hix, Pacific Northwest novice champion, won twice on Thursday and was the popular choice for the Champion of Champions trophy. He hurt McLay with two solid belts to the body and referee Tommy Burgess stopped action at 1.42 of the first round. It was the 17th straight win for the undefeated Hix, only 13 and oozing with ring talent.

Another Victoria loser was Bernie Brousseau, RCN, the Maritimes champion. He lost the decision to Seattle's Windy Johnson, 1954 inter-collegiate champion, in a wild, often hilarious finale that sent fans home in high good humor.

WHALE AWAY

Both were willing sluggers who rushed each other into the ropes and, in their eagerness, broke almost every rule. Both were warned by the referee but the big fellows — Brousseau weighed in at 211 and Johnson at 208 — just kept whaling away in a fight which often resembled a wrestling match.

One of the most impressive fighters on the card was the Tacoma light-welterweight, Jim Jahner, who had fought only four times previous to Thursday night, when he reached the final by flattening Bill Davison, RCN, in the first round.

Up against the experienced Max Ableman in the final, Jahner was in charge all the way except for a brief Ableman rally in the second round, and finally won it when referee Dave Brown stopped action in the third round after Ableman had been floored.

Jahner a hard puncher who threw his punches in combinations and seldom let up, cornered Ableman on the ropes several times and dished out severe punishment. A smashing left hook which caught the retreating Ableman on the jaw was the last blow of the fight.

Another one which had the crowd in a dither was the lightweight final between Vancouver's Hughie Meikle, recently-crowned Canadian featherweight champion who moved up a class, and Rick Bueing, a tough Seattle youngster.

Meikle lost the second round for a stray elbow and obviously aware that he had to win the final round decisively, came out swinging. He swarmed all over Bueing in a brawly third round and swung the verdict his way.

There was plenty of action in the welterweight final with Ralph Hennig of Seattle getting an unpopular decision over Jim Zarrelli of Puyallup.

Zarrelli, who had been knocked out twice in previous bouts by Hennig, seemed to have a slight edge but probably lost because of a first-round knockdown. Most fans thought it was a slip but referee Dave Brown ruled it a knockdown. The verdict was well booed.

Bill Miller, a competent, straight-hitting light-middleweight from Seattle, was too experienced for the fifth city finalist sailor Ted Harrington, but Harrington, knocked down in the first round, put up a game battle in going the distance of three rounds.

Jack Dean, a southpaw swinger from Everett, surprised by handing Tom Sullivan of Kent a beating in the flyweight final. Dean was clearly the winner as he landed consistently with clubbing left hands while the plodding Sullivan looked in vain for a knockout opening.

In the other final, Wally Bresch of Puyallup, who may have been outpointed in the first round, ended the light-heavyweight finale at 1.02 of the second round.

Bresch suddenly rushed the taller Rod Potts and a flurry of punches dropped the Seattle boxer for the mandatory eight count. Bresch rushed and a left-right combination again sent Potts down. Action was stopped there.

Miller, who looked as if he might have won two or three titles had he fought in more than one class, was selected as runner-up in the voting for the champion of champions and received the Golden Boy Trophy.

RECEIVED TROPHY

The Optimist Trophy was presented to Hix by Padre D. Kendell, president of the Victoria Optimist Club.

F/O P. C. Bion, RCAF, presented Miller's Trophy while Tom Duncan, president of the GVBA; Alderman Brent Murdoch and acting fire-chief Jim Bayliss took part in the presentations to the champions and runnersup.

Champions received an Indian sweater and a trophy while wrist watches were given to the defeated finalists.

Results of finals:

Flyweight (112)—John Phillips, Vancouver, decision over Brian O'Hare, Victoria.
Bantamweight (118)—Rex Hix, first-round TKO over Bruce McLay, Victoria.
Featherweight (126)—Jack Dean, Everett, decision over Tom Sullivan, Seattle.
Lightweight (132)—Hughie Meikle, Vancouver, decision over Rick Bueing, Seattle.
Light-welterweight (139)—Jim Jahner, Tacoma, third-round TKO over Max Ableman, Seattle.
Welterweight (147)—Ralph Hennig, Seattle, decision over Jim Zarrelli, Puyallup.
Light-middleweight (158)—Bill Miller, Seattle, decision over Ted Harrington, Victoria RCN.
Middleweight (165)—Jess Klinkenberg, Seattle, decision over Bert Wilkinson, Victoria.
Light-heavyweight (178) — Wally Bresch, Puyallup, second-round TKO over Rod Potts, Seattle.
Heavyweight—Windy Johnson, Seattle, decision over Bernie Brousseau, Victoria RCN.

U.S. Team Sweeps Foursomes

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—America's unquenchable young amateur golfers crushed Britain's hopes of winning the Walker Cup Friday when they swept all four of the opening day's foursomes matches in the 15th international team competition.

This unexpected triumph sent the United States into today's singles needing to win only three of eight matches in order to retain the trophy. It was a crushing setback for the British team, regarded as the strongest of the post-war era.

Although the Americans had been slight favorites to win the Walker Cup for the 14th time, nothing like the sweep was foreseen.

Only twice before in Walker Cup history—in 1928 at Wheaton, Ill., and in 1932 at Brookline, Mass.—had Britain failed to get even a half in the Walker Cup foursomes.

Friday only the top American team, Harvie Ward of San Francisco and Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., had to go the full 36-hole distance over the windswept 6,936-yard Old Course. They rallied at the finish to down Ireland's Joe Carr and England's Ronnie White, the best of the British amateurs, one up.

WON EASILY

The other Americans easily showed themselves to be the masters of the course.

Billy Joe Patton, and young Dick Yost of Portland, Ore., turned back Gerald Micklem of England and John Llewellyn Morgan of Wales, 2 and 1.

Portland's 21 - year - old Bruce Cudd, youngest of the Americans, and Jim Jackson of St. Louis routed the Scottish team of David Blair and Robin Cater, 5 and 4.

And Joe Conrad, 25-year-old air force lieutenant from San Antonio, Tex., and grim-faced Dale Morey of Indianapolis turned back Ian Caldwell and Ernest Millward of England, 3 and 2.

Uplands Finalists

Mrs. Ken Lawson, right, yesterday won the ladies' club championship at Uplands Golf Club with 7 and 6 win over Mrs. H. S. Smith, medallist and defending champion, shown on left. It was the third win for Mrs. Lawson, one of Victoria's top-notchers before she retired about 11 years ago. She won in 1942 and 1943 and competed for the last time, until this year, in 1944. Mrs. Lawson was at the top of her game as she carded a 44 on first nine and quickly ended match with 5-3-5 on 10th, 11th and 12th holes. In addition to club trophy, she was presented with Darcus Cup, 54-hole handicap medal competition which she won in March. Mrs. Don Ross won flight final yesterday by defeating Mrs. H. L. Woolison on 20th hole.

Vic High Wins Ninth Title in Row

HOW THEY STAND	Pts.
Victoria High	163¼
Esquimalt	96½
Oak Bay	96¼
Mount View	89¾

Victoria High School won its ninth straight inter-high school track and field championship yesterday to retain the Roy [illegible] for the runner-up trophy won't be decided until Wednesday when the senior boys' 440-yard event will be run again.

The powerful defending champions, making a strong showing in the junior and senior boys' events, had little trouble against Mount View, Oak Bay and Esquimalt and piled up a total of 163¼ points in the four days of competition.

Esquimalt High School, which boosted a powerful junior and senior girls' entry and claimed both individual girls' champions, was second with 96¾ while Oak Bay was only half a point back with 96¼ points. Mount View was fourth with 89¾ points, but the standings could be switched between Esquimalt and Oak Bay Wednesday.

As it turned out, it was unfortunate that the senior boys' 440 resulted in a disqualification, as it made Wednesday's re-run anticlimatic despite the closeness of the battle for the runner-up position.

George Robbins of Mount View was leading the event with Bill Hitch of Victoria High making a strong bid to catch the tiring runner. Hitch interfered and Robbins crashed to the track and referee Arche McKinnon disqualified the Victoria High runner. Officials later decided to run the event again Wednesday.

It was the only incident that marred an otherwise smoothly-run meet at the Victoria High School Gyro cinder track where a large crowd of students from the four schools cheered their athletes along.

Hitch didn't need the points from the 440-yard event as he won the senior boys' aggregate title with 17 points, for a four-point lead over Victoria's Tom English. Joe Haegert of Victoria High, who set yesterday's only record, took the junior boys' title with 17 points to 14 points by Jim Wilson of Mount View.

Haegert, who breezed to victory in both the 100 and 220-yard events, broke his own record of 23.8 in the 220 with a 23.5 performance.

Pat Lisle of Esquimalt won the second time in three years by edging teammate Frances Magwood, 16¼ points to 15. Miss Magwood, in winning both sprints, tied the 60-yard record of 7.2 seconds established by Adrian Taylor of Oak Bay in 1948.

Jennifer Savage of Esquimalt won the junior girls' title with 12½ points while Margaret Baird of Oak Bay was second with eight points.

One other record was tied yesterday. Victoria High's junior boys' relay team equalling the record of 1.47.3 set by the city institution last year.

A total of three records was broken and three more tied in the four-day meet.

Six U.S. Drivers On Track Tonight

At least six American drivers are expected to vie for honors tonight in the first big-car meet of the season at Western Speedway on Millstream road.

Popular Del Fanning of Seattle has announced his entry, and Don Olds, holder of the track record, will be back for an attempt to establish a new mark.

Fanning will be driving the GMC he piloted to victory in the championship race last season, and Olds will be behind the wheel of a Cadillac V-8 owned by Mac McBurney of Seattle.

Due to cause a lot of interest at tonight's meet will be the appearance of Portland's Ernie Koch, who will be driving fellow-townsman George Weedman's new Offenhauser. Koch drove the car to a track record and main-event victory at Yakima in its first outing.

Former Victorians Bud and Pike Green, who now live in Seattle, are also expected to compete. Bud is due to drive Gene Fanning's Studebaker special and Pike is slated to pilot Les Wasilechen's Offenhauser. Jimmy McKay of Seattle will drive his Studebaker V-8.

Among local drivers entered for the meet are Eddie Kostenuk, Bob Simpson, Jack Spaulding, Corky Thomas, Al Coutts and Charlie Flitton.

A special holiday stock-car race meet has been scheduled at Western Speedway Monday afternoon and several new cars are expected to be in action for the first time. Time trials Monday start at 2.30 p.m.

Flyweight boxer Keeny Teran, who has an admitted background of narcotic addiction, has been suspended indefinitely by the California athletic commission.

Remember When:

Bob Montgomery won the world lightweight championship by outpointing Beau Jack in 15 bruising rounds at New York 12 years ago tonight. Beau Jack, however, won New York State recognition as champion by outpointing Montgomery in a return bout the following November.

Lawn Bowling

Victoria Lawn Bowling Club has scheduled two holiday competitions at its Beacon Hill greens Monday.

NO. 136—NINETY-SEVENTH YEAR | VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, MAY 21, 1955 | SECOND NEWS SECTION

Why Don't Things Stand Still?

First two hours in this big world can be pretty unsteady when your legs feel like four egg noodles. Young Arabian colt pictured here with his mother, who distrusts intruders in her nursery, was born yesterday morning in Victoria Riding Academy stables in Saanich. They are owned by Norman G. Addington, 2568 Penrhyn. Colt's father is Asatil, a standard bred Arabian.

City Tourist Trade Threatened By Withdrawal of Ferry Service

Holiday Pay Doubled

Annual holiday pay of four per cent of a years earnings has been granted for the first time in the British Columbia construction industry.

The big gain, long sought by many construction unions, is contained along with a wage increase in a master contract affecting some 5000 carpenters in B.C.

ALL SIGNED

A two-year agreement from April 1 1955 has been signed by the Heavy Construction Association of B.C. and the General Contractors' Association with the Provincial Council of Carpenters (Lab.).

Annual holiday pay previously had been two per cent. required by provincial Labor Act.

A wage increase of three cents an hour is effective April 1 1956. Basic rate then will be $2.38 an hour for journeymen carpenters.

A further increase is granted the millwright section of the Carpenters Union calling for a rate of $2.50 an hour and a further increase of three cents on April 1 1957.

Clarification of several clauses in the agreement were also dealt with during several weeks of continuous negotiations covering saw filers, apprentices, transportation and carpenters' tool protection.

Signing the agreement yesterday for the council were E. T. Staley, secretary; Victor Midgley, union international representative both of Victoria and George Bengough president of Vancouver.

George A. Wilkinson, management committee chairman and Col. D. J. Baldwin executive secretary signed for the Heavy Construction Association. J. Hutcheson, president, Len Bennett, first vice-president and Col. Macgregor Macintosh, manager, signed for the contractors association.

Diet Contestants Weigh In

Official weigh-in for the Adam-Merriman diet contest was yesterday. Brig. John Adam, commander of the 25th Militia Group, weighed in at 182 pounds, and will try to lose 10 pounds in five weeks. Alec Merriman, Daily Colonist guinea pig of the Leland Kordel "Eat Your Troubles Away" series, weighed in at 143½ pounds and will lose 15 pounds in five weeks. Both men will follow Kordel's principles. Reason for the five pound difference in objectives is that the brigadier has already lost 25 pounds following Kordel's plan. Merriman started at 212 pounds on Gerhard Hauser's diet, switched to Kordel and has lost 18½ pounds. He is the one on the scales. They have a wager.

Salk Shots Planned in Fall For 150,000 B.C. Children

British Columbia hopes to have enough Salk polio vaccine to inoculate 150,000 more children in the fall, Dr. G. F. Amyot, director of the provincial health services, said last night.

Dr. Amyot said he is encouraged by the progress of the Salk vaccine tests in the United States.

We are hopeful that the last stage of the tests, to determine if the vaccine is safe and effective, will be completed by the end of June, Dr. Amyot said.

The school tests are being made on children in the first, second and third grades. Dr. Amyot said.

Next year, he said, the vaccine will be available to children in all grades.

SETTLING DETAILS

Dr. Amyot left for Ottawa last night to attend a meeting of provincial health officers to discuss details of the vaccine tests.

We should get the full support of the province's municipalities, he said.

We are hopeful we can get assistance from the federal government, he said.

Health practitioners in the province have been prepared to take part in the tests, Dr. Amyot said last night.

We are always looking for the best way to get help for our children, and we are confident that the Salk vaccine will be the answer, he said.

He said he was sure the vaccine would prove to be valuable for adults as well as children and teenagers.

FOUR NOW 25

There have been 25 cases of polio reported so far this year in the province, compared with four at the end of May.

Reports show that at the end of May, 1954, there had been 60 cases and 1954 was one of the worst years since 1940.

Health officials say, however, that there is no reason for panic, or even a trend. Some authorities have said they expect the polio incidence to be low this year.

Air Raid Advice Soon

Victoria residents will soon be told what to do in the event of an air attack on the city.

Meeting of the civic defence board will be held May 31 and reports from officials should clear the matter up, Mayor Claude Harrison indicated yesterday.

I'd like to get it clear on the people know what to do, he said.

Earlier this week Greater Victoria coordinator Roger Peachey said the government should urge the establishment of home shelters instead of organizing plans for mass evacuation of residents.

Second Look Urged

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce is asking school trustees to reconsider their decision to refuse the use of school playgrounds for baseball.

The chamber has appealed to the trustees to change their minds in support of the Little League baseball idea.

Chamber president V. H. Heaslip said directors believe understand the trustees were to reconsider the decision. We are always trying to find out if St. Ann's school playground is open but we can't get hold of the park.

We ask on Little League baseball as one of the greatest recreational needs of today's youth in a community endeavor, said Mr. Wenaman. It will be a great pity if the organizations efforts are hindered by the trustees.

He said he was [illegible] and wanted [illegible] as a [illegible] and look after [illegible] of Johnson street.

He stood for the chairmanship of the city council on Dec. 31 [illegible] but was defeated by [illegible].

Black Ball ferries will quit the Victoria - Port Angeles passenger and automobile carrying run, The Daily Colonist learned last night.

Washington State Ferries may take over the service. And the CPR's B.C. Coast Steamships may cooperate with the American state-owned company.

C. E. Blaney, representing Washington State Ferries here, said last night:

The company will consider taking over the Black Ball vessels and route.

But whether it would be operationally possible remains to be seen, he added.

H. G. Swendson, administrative assistant to the state-owned ferry company, said: We would withhold any announcement of plans until we know definitely what the CPR and Black Ball intend to do.

He indicated the CPR might increase its Port Angeles-Victoria ferry service.

I imagine we will get together with the CPR to discuss giving Victoria and Port Angeles added service, Mr. Swendson said.

He said he did not want to raise hopes of the people of both cities of participation by the firm in the service.

LONG RANGE POLICY

Our long range policy is that we are interested in giving all possible service to Victoria and increasing port capacity as quickly as finances and traffic will permit, he said.

Washington State Ferries now operates the Sidney-Anacortes ferry service and plans to step up that service from two to four ferries daily to meet the emergency.

Its main interest in the Port Angeles route is that it ties in with its loop service Seattle to Port Angeles by ferry and road to Victoria by ferry and from Sidney to Anacortes by ferry.

However all of the Washington State Ferries ships are now loading and the Black Ball wharf in Victoria requires a side loading ship.

The Colonist learned last night that Black Ball will soon announce abandonment of its Victoria-Port Angeles run and the Victoria terminal.

The Chinook now being fitted by Yarrows for new loading and unloading in addition to side loading, will not be ready until after June 3.

It is expected she will go on the Nanaimo-Horseshoe Bay ferry run which would give Black Ball to open sailings for the Chinook and five for the Chinook. The CPR runs 11 daily sailings from Nanaimo to Vancouver.

Tourist officials compute that 10 per cent of the tourist traffic enters B.C. from the U.S. gateways by ferry and 90 per cent drive to British Columbia on the Pacific Highway through Vancouver.

Practically all of the travel from Port Angeles to Victoria is tourist travel and is said caused into two or three months of the year.

A service from the Saanich Peninsula to the Mainland is not contemplated by Black Ball at the moment but it would be a logical step after the Gulf Island service is operating, shipping men say.

The uncertainty about the ferry service between Port Angeles and Victoria was damaging to the tourist trade, C. M. Bob Nelles, chairman of the tourist trade group and directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, yesterday.

"We view with alarm rumors that are going round Victoria," he said, referring to possibilities the Black Ball Line may curtail or withdraw its service.

We want as great a service between the two ports as we had last year.

CPR officials said last night they had not heard about several cars being left in Port Angeles on Thursday and having to wait for the next boat, but a CPR official said he would advise U.S. tourists to leave their cars in Port Angeles and visit Victoria anyway.

Byers Made Juvenile Magistrate

The provincial cabinet yesterday appointed city lawyer J. Austen Byers as Victoria's juvenile court magistrate at a salary of $250 a month.

Mr. Byers has practised law in Victoria since the second World War. He was formerly a British High Court judge in India.

His appointment is part of a plan by city council to set up a new juvenile court in the city's welfare building on Cook street.

The plays will be staged in honor performances tonight at Alberni district high school.

'Could Put a Man Out of Business'

Mink Breeders Fear Fly-Past

Greater Victoria mink farmers voiced concern Friday over the scheduled fly-past of 10 Victoria Flying Club planes Sunday afternoon.

"Unless they are careful they will take the bread and butter out of the mouths of hard working people," said H. F. Williams, president of Vancouver Island Fur Breeders Association.

This is the mink breeding season, he explained, and any undue noise will cause the animals to panic and eat their young.

"Losses were encountered when jets flew over last year," said Mr. Williams. "It's quite possible that the fly past could put a man completely out of business this year."

Dave Filby, instructor and manager of Victoria Flying Club, said last night the planes will try to avoid the farms.

"We have mink farms marked on a map and we will try to stay away from them," said Mr. Filby. "But we just can't miss all of them."

He said the planes would not fly lower than 2,000 feet. Regulations allow a minimum height of 1,000 feet.

The fly-past is to inaugurate national flying club week.

Cold Biggest Barrier

Cold will be the biggest obstacle in her attempt to swim Juan de Fuca Strait, said 18-year-old UBC coed Pat Russell, last night.

The 130-pound, powerful arts student will make her bid between June 1 and 17.

The young swimmer was in Cadboro Bay for two hours yesterday in 48.3-degree water. For half an hour she trained in a special muscle-strengthening harness designed by coach Fred McDermott, a Vancouver physiotherapist.

"I didn't feel it too cold yesterday," said Pat, but the cold is going to be the thing to beat.

Pat will start training in open water early next week. She will train at Cadboro Bay tonight.

Would Imitate Black Ball

Farmer Likes Cheap Road Scheme

A Saturna Island farmer would like to lend the provincial government money to build him a road, just like the Black Ball Ferry Co.

James Campbell got the idea when he read reports that Black Ball will lend the government $85,000 interest-free to pave roads on the Sechelt peninsula which the ferry company serves.

Mr. Campbell said in Vancouver he plans to borrow money from the bank and get the government to back his note. He would then turn the money over to the government to build a road to his farm. When the government paid him back he would repay the bank, the only cost to him being the interest.

The only catch is that the provincial government intended to build the Sechelt roads anyway on its pay-as-you-go plan, which would take a little time.

Black Ball wants roads right away and is willing to provide the cash without interest. The government pays back $100,000 a year for five years about the time it might take to build the roads without a free loan.

But whether Mr. Campbell's access road was part of the government's program is doubtful.

White Eagle Bazaar Today

Making final arrangements for the White Eagle Bazaar being held Saturday in the White Eagle Hall, Dock street, are left to right, Mrs. Frances Money general convener; Mrs. S. Tomczyk, convener of the home cooking stall; Mrs. J. Palak and Mrs. J. Trout of the supper committee and Mrs. A. Bednarski, wife of the association president who will welcome the guests. Highlights of the bazaar will be a display of Polish dancing at 3 p.m., a hot turkey supper served with traditional Polish dishes at 6 p.m. and a dance from 9 to 12 in the evening. There will be stalls of miscellaneous items, fancy sewing and baby clothes as well as a hot dog stand and wishing well for the children. All proceeds will go towards the building of a children's games room and library.

A Message from the Minister — A Galilee, Not a Dead Sea

Man's Life Should Be a Fountain

This is the fifth of a series of messages from Greater Victoria churchmen that will appear each week in The Daily Colonist's church page.

BY REV. CANON F. PIKE
St. Luke's Anglican Church, Cedar Hill

Last Thursday was Ascension Day and from the top of the Mount of Olives Jesus gave His disciples a message before He ascended into Heaven.

He said that Ye shall be witnesses unto me unto the uttermost parts of the earth.

Standing on the traditional site of the Ascension and looking southeast a spot of blue is seen sparkling in the sunlight. It is the Dead sea.

This lake is 47 miles long and 10 miles wide and 1,300 feet below the level of the Mediterranean sea.

One can get a better view of the Dead sea from Bethlehem looking eastward where the eye catches the long narrow line of the river Jordan, which gives its all to the Dead sea waters.

If you were to take a ton of Dead sea water ... would contain 30 pounds of salt but if you took the same amount of Dead sea water ... would find that it contained 200 pounds of salt and other minerals.

There is no attempt to develop its shores for there is no fish you will see no shells on the beach and the only boat on it is the Dead sea apple which is very tempting to the eye but a poor mouthful.

The ... of Galilee ... and ... ought to be.

Most of us take whatever we can get and do not care much how it comes as long as all goes well with us.

I saw a dark-skinned Arab boy walk into the waters to get cooled off, and when he came out he was a glistening pillar of salt.

It is said that the bones of Sodom and Gomorrah lie under its waters. We ... of this ... appropriate ... lovingness?"

It is because this Dead Sea ... nothing in return for it keeps every drop of the water of the River Jordan ... Cross from Mount Hermon. It has no outlet for its ... except evaporation.

Here is a modern parable from ... that where the most wonderful ... parables were told.

How are we ... make our lives useful? When Christ told the story of the Good Samaratin, He must have been thinking of the Dead sea as He crossed the Jordan near Jericho and uttered these words:

"Whosoever will save his life shall lose it, and whosoever will lose his life for My sake shall find it."

Is ... path of ... dead sea ... is another ... road to ...

It is just ... And the ... sea ... Dead Sea, but ... a strong ... I love ... Church and ... Brotherhood ... a watered ... garden with ... palm ... trees at ... Canaan.

The Lord of Glory ... gets ... It ... and ... ought to be.

Me unto the uttermost parts of the world."

Pilots Re-Tell Story of Encounter

Five U.S. jet pilots lock over the encounter with Red MiGs over northwest Korea recently. Two Communist planes were reported shot down in the dogfight while another one is thought to be destroyed. Communist sources deny that any of their planes were downed and accuse the U.S. of violating the truce. (Central Press Canadian)

West opened the ace of diamonds and shifted to the ten of clubs. The jack, queen and ace eliminated declarer's problem in that suit. He led the ace of spades and a low one toward dummy. With the king and jack both in West's hand, losing only one trump trick was a foregone conclusion. West won with the king and continued clubs, won by South's nine. Dummy's queen drew West's last spade, and declarer cashed two more club tricks, winning the last one in his own hand in order to finesse the queen of hearts. When the finesse succeeded, he was able to discard one diamond loser on dummy's ace and trump another diamond with dummy's last trump.

"Like shooting fish in a barrel," he said cheerfully, conceding the last trick to the opponents. "It's easy when you live a clean life."

Yet South's contract was made only with the aid of a sinner. It was West who erred when he shifted to the ten of clubs instead of continuing with the diamonds. On a diamond continuation, if South let the lead come around, conceding a trick to East's king, he would also have lost a club and a trump trick for the game. Hence, North must ruff the second diamond. Now, declarer has an extremely difficult handling problem. He must come to his hand with the ace of clubs and finesse the queen of hearts, in hopes of discarding a diamond. The finesse succeds and the diamond is jettisoned, but South is unable to make his contact.

If he comes back to his hand with the ace of spades, he will have to lose two trump tricks to West's king-jack when he trumps another diamond in dummy. If he comes back, instead, by trumping a heart, by the time he has finished cross-ruffing West has more trumps than either North or South, and declared will lose a diamond, a club and two trump tricks.

Doctors Raise Fees by Half

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario Medical Association Wednesday adopted a revised fee scale that will increase by 50 per cent some medical fees in Ontario.

The reason given the annual convention by a tariff committee was that costs to doctors of all services had increased since the 1948 revision of the rate scale.

Office calls to a practitioner will be raised to $5 from $4. Surgical and obstetrical charges will remain the same.

Emergency calls will cost $2 extra above a routine house call. Charge for a house call was increased to $5 from $4.

Courtenay Asks Arena Costs

COURTENAY—Cost of building an arena based on the type constructed at Powell River is to be sought by a fact-finding committee here.

At a meeting this week the committee, basing their views on data supplied by arena managers from other parts of the province, stated that an arena which provides for curling, hockey and skating is feasible.

Plans of the Powell River Centre will be obtained and firm estimates sought. Then the committee will discuss methods of financing the undertaking. Cost is estimated at between $125,000 and $200,000.

$2,000 FUND DRIVE LEAVES $125 FOR CHARITY

Young Canada Pays Tribute to Past

Earnest six-year-olds Donald Pletch and Sylvia Duprose led a score of youngsters to the Queen Victoria statue yesterday to place wreaths commemorating the birthday of a great Queen and to mark Canada's Citizenship Day. (See story on Page 2.)

More than 1,000 school children raised their voices for the Empire Day-Citizenship Day services at the Legislative Buildings, while a pair of mallards paddled undisturbed in the fountain pond.

Police Say It's Legal

The Loyal Order of Moose in Victoria will receive only about $125 out of $2,000 donated to a "high pressure" charity drive, staged by a Hollywood organization on its behalf, which ended yesterday.

After Chamber of Commerce directors heard complaints about the telephone campaign, J. W. Priddle, Moose governor in this area, regretfully explained the campaign and said:

"We definitely won't do it again."

A. F. Corker, chairman of a sub-committee on donationss, urged the chamber to investigate all collections or drives here; to oppose drives unless 90 per cent of proceeds goes to local charities; to press for a united appeal for all major charities.

Mr. Priddle appealed to the public to assist in increasing the amount raised for local charities by the campaign by buying tickets from lodge members for a show at the Victoria Ballroom June 9.

He said a Paul Forrester of Katona Productions Inc., Hollywood, came to Victoria March 17 and persuaded a previous governor to sign a contract to sponsor the show and allow his organization to conduct a fund drive.

"He said he had only a couple of hours and there was no time for a meeting of the lodge," Mr. Priddle said.

The contract gave 40 per cent of collections to Katona Productions; 40 per cent to the show, the "Rambling Tommy Scott Hillbilly Opera," from Nashville, Tenn.; and 20 per cent to the Victoria lodge for local charities.

Some $2,000 was collected in the month-long drive, of which the collectors and the show get $800 each. The lodge gets $400, but must pay expenses for telephones, hall rent and oth items.

"We will only get somewhere between $100 and $140," Mr. Priddle said.

"I went to the police because I wasn't too struck with the methods used," he said. "The said it was above board, but only just."

A John Kelly, who stayed in a hotel for the last month at the expense of the campaign hired Victoria men and wome to telephone merchants. Turnover of employees was large.

Kelly left Victoria last night after setting up similar shows in Nanaimo, Port Alberni and Vancouver and is said to be going to Calgary next week, where Mr. Priddle said "organizations should be warned" of Victoria's experience.

Kelly, who is a Moose, and other Katona Productions employees are conducting similar campaigns "all across the United States and Canada," Mr. Priddle said.

Part of proceeds from these campaigns go to Moose Heart Ill., where families of deceased lodge members live, and to Moose Haven, Fla., where elderly lodge members are housed. There are six Canadian families at Moose Heart and one Victoria couple at Moose Haven.

"More money comes back to Canadians than we give," Mr. Priddle said. He added that bulk of the estimated $125 share of the local campaign will go to the Queen Alexandra Solarium, and the lodge will receive half of the proceeds from tickets its members sell before the show June 9.

Telephone canvassers asked merchants to buy blocks of children's tickets, then give them to children or have the Moose members do so.

Sale of tickets "is our only means of getting out of this mess financially," said the governor, who planned to meet chamber of commerce officials to explain.

"The lodge will do everything it can to make the show a success," he said.

Mr. Corker's report said chamber members would not give to any collection or drive which did not give 90 per cent of proceeds to local charities.

George Wheaton, who urged the chamber to take on the charities investigation job, said of the "high pressure" canvass: "I am afraid I have been a sucker myself."

Directors withheld a decision until their next meeting, by which time they will have studied the report.

Advice of Druggist Blamed for Scare

Wrong advice by a city pharmacist was blamed Friday for the near death of a two-year-old city boy who swallowed a large quantity of pills earlier this week.

Ian, young son of Mr. and Mrs. John Le Boutillier, Oliver street, climbed up to a high shelf and swallowed the pills which had been prescribed for his mother.

The pharmacist who made up the pills was telephoned and told the frantic mother that there was no cause for alarm. The pills were harmless, he said.

The doctor who had ordered the pills was not immediately available.

Condition of Ian grew considerably worse and the doctor was eventually reached.

He ordered the boy rushed to hospital to have contents of his stomach pumped out.

It was stated yesterday that the youngster could have died from the effects of the pills.

Crowded City Beer Parlor Target of Tear-Gas Bombing

Scores of Victorians were crying in their beer last night after someone tossed a tear gas bomb into the crowded Westholme Hotel Tavern closing-time rush.

The ammonia tear gas bomb exploded on the floor of the packed beer parlor shortly before the 11.30 closing time last night sending two women to hospital and 150 patrons rushing for the fresh air with tears streaming from their eyes.

Witnesses said the bomb was dropped by two men minutes after they arrived and ordered four glasses of beer. The "bombers" escaped through the gasping crowd in the confusion.

Reported recovering at St. Joseph's Hospital were Mrs. Rose Brooks, 2522 Blanshard, and Mrs. V. Allan, North Park street, who were so overcome by the acrid smoke and bitter fumes that they could barely speak.

Police and firemen were called to the hotel to clear out guests as fumes sifted to the third floor. Fire department set up fans in the beer parlor to try to clear out the pungent gas which sent coughing patrons streaming to exits, rubbing their eyes and holding their noses.

Three soldiers said one of the bombers was tall, with dark, wavy hair and was wearing a blue suit. There was no description of the other man.

"I thought a radiator had exploded," one soldier said. "But I soon realized it was gas; we had gas tests a few weeks ago."

"I know that guy and if I see him again, I'll wring his neck," the soldier added.

Head waiter Nick Lyster, 1720 Fernwood, said there was no panic.

A number of soldiers who were in the parlor warned other patrons not to rub their eyes.

"That stuff will blind you if you rub your eyes," they said. "Just hold your nose and let the tears come."

Lyster's children, Diane, 14, and Jim, 13, who were among the 20 persons forced out of upstairs rooms, said, "We had to open the windows and run right out."

Night clerk J. Targett said he was on the third floor shortly after the bomb was dropped. He said that in "matter of seconds the smoke and odor had filtered up through the building through ventilation ducts."

Canada Retains Control

U.S. Foots Bill For DEW Line

OTTAWA (CP) — The United States will pay the full cost—estimated at $250,000,000—for construction and operation of the DEW (distant early warning) radar line in the Canadian Arctic.

When built, the line will be manned at least in part by American personnel, though Canada retains the right to take it over at any time.

External Affairs Minister Pearson Friday tabled in the Commons the text of an agreement between Canada and the U. S. for construction and operation of the line, an integral part of the North American defence network. The line will probably require at least two years to complete. Work on it began this spring.

U.S. operation of the DEW line would mean the stationing of hundreds of Americans in the Canadian north. There now are estimated to be some 3,000 American servicemen based in Canada, apart from those at three U. S. leased bases in Newfoundland.

The key paragraphs in the agreement are:

"It is understood that, in any event, Canada reserves the right, on reasonable notice, to take over the operation and manning of any or all of the installations. . . .

"The United States is authorized to station personnel at the sites, and to operate the DEW system, in accordance with the principles of command in effect from time to time between the military authorities of the two countries.

"Unless otherwise provided by Canada, the costs of construction and operation of the DEW system shall be the responsibility of the United States, with the exception of Canadian military personnel costs if Canada should man any of the installations. . . ."

Flood Nears Highway

WINNIPEG (CP)—A new crest on the flooding Assiniboine river punched four holes 12 to 14 feet wide in a section of dike, 45 miles west of here, Friday sending a one-foot wall of water surging over rich farm land on its north bank only one mile from the main east-west highway.

United Appeal Idea Interests Agencies

Spokesmen for all major charities in Greater Victoria were quick to agree to attend preliminary discussions on a united appeal for charity after the Chamber of Commerce urged yesterday that all fund drives be rolled into one.

The spokesmen also stressed that more than 90 per cent of proceeds from their various campaigns go to local charitable work.

Agreement to attend a preliminary meeting was voiced by officials of the Community Chest, Red Cross, Conquer Cancer Campaign, Solarium, Junior League, Salvation Army campaign and Kinsmen polio organization.

Red Cross and Community Chest, the largest groups, pointed out that campaign costs were three per cent or less of total contributions.

Eric Wainwright, Red Cross campaign chairman, said a united appeal is a "very, very good idea providing you can get somebody who could raise the money."

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot, chairman of the Salvation Army drive, said the money raised here this year will be less than the amount spent by the army in this area.

Russia Plans Atomic Travel for Masses

LONDON (Reuters) — Moscow radio said Friday Russia has "working projects" for an atomic locomotive capable of running 50,000,000 miles without refuelling, and detailed other projects for atomic submarines, ships and aircraft.

The radio, in reporting a talk by Prof. Vladimir A. Leshkovtsev, said the Arctic ocean — usually covered by sheets of ice—would in future be open the year round to atomic submarines sailing under the ice.

In describing the "working project" for an atomic locomotive, he said the engine, including the tender, is about 150 feet long and weighs 327 tons, of which the atomic "boiler" and its protective layers weigh 180 tons.

Referring to the United States atomic submarine Nautilus, Prof. Leshkovtsev said the Americans are concerned "solely with the use of atomic energy for war purposes."

Soviet submarines, he said, are to be designed to carry hundreds of passengers and thousands of tons of cargo over long distances at speeds up to 25 miles an hour. Air for passengers and crew will be stored in the form of liquid oxygen.

Pre-Election Rail Strike May Seal Attlee's Fate

LONDON (Reuters) — A threatened rail strike burst unexpectedly Friday upon the general election campaign, heightening Labor party fears of a defeat at the polls Thursday.

The underdog Labor party realizes the public might accuse the party of failure to control its industrial followers and give Sir Anthony Eden's Conservative party the sweeping triumph that public opinion polls have predicted.

Leaders of 70,000 engineers and firemen announced Friday afternoon they will strike for higher pay May 28, two days after the election. The stoppage on the nationalized railroads would upset the long Whitsun week-end when millions of Britons traditionally travel to seaside and country.

Labor leaders fear the voters might point to the rail strike as evidence that nationalization is no solution to industrial strife and swing toward the Conservatives' "free enterprise" program.

Britain is also faced with its second national dock strike within a year. A breakway union of 15,000 stevedores has ordered a strike at four main ports, London, Liverpool, Manchester and Hull, to start next Monday—three days before the election.

The breakaway union's demand to be represented in union negotiations, now conducted by the rival Transport and General Workers Union, lies at the core of both dock disputes.

The Trades Union Congress, backbone of the Labor party, failed Thursday to negotiate a settlement of the inter - union dock dispute. The TUC last year suspended the breakaway union of stevedores and has ordered the 80,000 dock workers in the recognized union to stay at their jobs.

Senate Narcotics Probers Told

Payments 'Just Like Grocery Bill'

Some Doctors Growing Fat on Dope Profits, Addict Says

TORONTO (CP)—A former drug addict Friday accused "a lot of doctors" of fostering drug addiction and growing fat on the profits.

The addict told members of the Senate committee on narcotics, that he had purchased heroin from a general practitioner and handled the payments "just like a grocery bill."

"A lot of doctors," he said, "have built their big houses on profits from drugs."

He was one of two former addicts who gave testimony at the committee's one - day hearing here. Their names were not disclosed. The committee already has held sessions in Vancouver and Ottawa. It goes next to Montreal.

Committee members heard conflicting advice on solutions to the illicit narcotics problem in Canada.

Assistant RCMP commissioner B. McClellan of Toronto said indefinite prison sentences for all addicts in Ontario would wipe out the provincial problem. One addict criticized the system of jail penalties and demanded "sympathy, understanding and sensible treatment."

Commissioner McClellan was supported in his plea of severe penalties designed to free society from the drug crime by Toronto Chief Constable John Chisholm, who said imprisonment provided safety for society, a deterrent to potential addicts and opportunity of effecting individual cures.

Suggestions by the police chief and the assistant commissioner drew fire from a 68-year-old former addict who said he had spent much of his life in jail.

"I have not had any drugs for over three years—and I'm reasonably happy," he said. "I think there are hundreds of addicts who could be the same if they got the same chances. Our society has failed to present those opportunities. It has adopted a defeatist attitude."

Commenting on suggestions made to the Senate committee during its recent sessions in Vancouver, the former addict said:

"In Vancouver the chief of police is obviously frustrated by a situation he cannot handle. He wants to put all addicts on an island somewhere and forget about them. I think that shows a lack of any sense of responsibility."

High-Pressure $2,000 Drive Leaves Only $125 for Charities

'We'll Never Do It Again,' Moose Governor Pledges

The Loyal Order of Moose in Victoria will receive only about $125 out of $2,000 donated to a "high pressure" Hollywood organization on charity drive, staged by a its behalf, which ended yesterday.

After Chamber of Commerce directors heard complaints about the telephone campaign, J. W. Priddle, Moose governor in this area, regretfully explained the campaign and said:

"We definitely won't do it again."

A. F. Corker, chairman of a sub-committee on donationss, urged the chamber to investigate all collections or drives here; to oppose drives unless 90 per cent of proceeds goes to local charities; to press for a united appeal for all major charities.

Mr. Priddle appealed to the public to assist in increasing the amount raised for local charities by the campaign by buying tickets from lodge members for a show at the Victoria Ballroom June 9.

PERSUADED TO SIGN

He said a Paul Forrester of Katona Productions Inc., Hollywood, came to Victoria March 17 and persuaded a previous governor to sign a contract to sponsor the show and allow his organization to conduct a fund drive.

"He said he had only a couple of hours and there was no time for a meeting of the lodge," Mr. Priddle said.

The contract gave 40 per cent of collections to Katona Productions; 40 per cent to the show, the "Rambling Tommy Scott Hillbilly Opera," from Nashville, Tenn.; and 20 per cent to the Victoria lodge for local charities.

Some $2,000 was collected in the month-long drive, of which the collectors and the show get $800 each. The lodge gets $400, but must pay expenses for telephones, hall rent and other items.

Senate Narcotics Probers Told

Payments 'Just Like Grocery Bill'

Some Doctors Growing Fat on Dope Profits, Addict Says

TORONTO (CP)—A former drug addict Friday accused "a lot of doctors" of fostering drug addiction and growing fat on the profits.

The addict told members of the Senate committee on narcotics, that he had purchased heroin from a general practitioner and handled the payments "just like a grocery bill."

"A lot of doctors," he said, "have built their big houses on profits from drugs."
